Drawing on community

Antioch, Lake Villa, Lindenhurst strive to promote area arts, artists

By BRENDA BALIN
bbalin@lakelandmedia.com and JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Whether art imitates life or life imitates art, Antioch and neighboring communities Lake Villa and Lindenhurst have taken measures to ensure it lives on through the creation of the Antioch Fine Arts Foundation (AFAF) and the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Area Fine Arts Council.

About to celebrate its third birthday (the birthday bash scheduled for Nov. 12), AFAF was established as a private non-profit organization specifically to coordinate and promote Antioch area visual arts. Its membership is open to active artists as well as patrons of the arts and those interested in art appreciation.

Pixie Eslinger, a founding member and current publicity director, shared her vision for Antioch at the time the foundation was forming.

"My vision for Antioch is one of a destination town," she said, looking back. "In the summer, juried art fairs would attract the finest artists and contemporary craftsmen from around the world. This would complement the growing community of local artisans who would be encouraged to open their studios to the public."

Strides have been made through the foundation to bring that vision to life. The past two summers, AFAF has sponsored a studio tour in which member artists have indeed opened their doors to let the public take a closer look at what they do.

Eslinger said, "There were people who were concerned that they had really missed out on what we had done in the past. I'm not sure if it was good or if it was bad that I had to tell them that if they came to last year's and this year's, that they had seen them all."

This year, the studio tour reportedly drew visitors from as far away as Winnetka.

Judy Chinski, AFAF gallery director, said the area is rich with a diversity of artists. She said it makes it easy to keep the gallery from becoming stale. Bronze sculpture, photography, watercolor, oil paintings, wood sculpture, stained glass, pastels, textile arts, blacksmithing, wood turning and calligraphy are among the types of pieces shown by area artists.

"There are always new things to look at here," she said. "There is always a special show in our white room, and the pieces that are hanging in our other rooms are always changing. Different artists participate in different shows over the course of the year, so we always have different artists and different works on display."

To become a member, artists pay $30 annual dues. To show their works, arts agree to work four hours per month at the gallery and contribute an additional $5 per month.

Originals are displayed on the wall space of the gallery. Bins hold both prints and originals.

In addition to showing artwork, the AFAF offers a variety of classes. The summer course catalog included classes in origami, sculpture, watercolor, underwater art (subject matter) and acrylic painting. Youth classes were offered as "art camp," and one-, two- and three-day workshops round out the educational mix.

The next scheduled workshop is a watercolor workshop with Frank Francese, Aug. 12-14 from 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Eslinger said, "Those who have attended Frank's workshops in the past are thrilled that he'll be back in Antioch to share his unique and intensely beautiful style with us."

She added that it is a goal of the foundation to further the creative efforts of its members while spreading knowledge and appreciation of the visual arts.

For those who would rather view than participate, the watercolor paintings of Ethel Dellacecca and the color pencil and pastel renderings of Arleen Cramer Omerod will be featured in August. The opening, complete with a wine and cheese reception, is scheduled for Aug. 15 from 2-4 p.m.

Eslinger and Chinski praise the support of community and credit it with the success the foundation has been able to achieve in its few short years.

They said books have been donated to the foundation library and that local businesses have donated and installed carpeting the library, installed a new heating and air conditioning unit and built a handicap ramp. The Lakes Region Historical Society provides the building, rent free, to AFAF, and painted the exterior and put up the blue shutters.

Chinski said, "The community has been great in its support of us, and we want everybody to know they are welcome to come in and see what we have to offer. We have that big welcome sign out front because we really do want people to come and visit

Police call for community parks watch

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Within months of the return of the lion's head fountain to Centennial Park, vandals blew up it up. Parks Director Laurie Stahl said it would likely be a couple months before repairs can be completed and reinstalled.

The vandalism reportedly occurred at about 10 p.m. on Thursday, July 29. Police Chief Chuck Fagan made a plea for residents to become more involved in reporting suspicious activity.

"The next morning, a neighbor reported seeing kids being dropped off the night before, and said that he thought he had heard an explosion," Fagan said. "Our parks close at dusk. If he had reported seeing the kids on the night it happened, we would have responded and maybe we could have prevented this from happening."

Fagan said residents don't need to worry about looking up the non-emergency number (847-395-8585), and can call 9-1-1 to report situations that look suspicious even if no actual crime is witnessed. Additionally, he emphasized that calls can be made anonymously.

"It just takes a little common sense," he said. "A young couple that is just holding hands and walking through the park (after hours) probably doesn't require a call. People know when things don't look right."

Fagan said police regularly patrol the parks, but said it's impossible for officers to be at all locations at all times. He said that unlike communities with park districts, and park ranger police forces, Antioch police officers couldn't concentrate their efforts on the parks.

"We need residents to be our eyes and ears," he said. "We have packages at the police department for residents to start neighborhood watches. I would like to see a 'Friends of the Parks Watch' established."

Fagan said he's always been impressed with the way residents pitch in for volunteer efforts, and take advantage of the amenities the village provides.

"We live together as a community, and we have to work together as a community," Fagan said. "We would like to be able to catch these vandals in the act. If something is out of place, happening at the wrong time of day, report it and we'll respond."

Fagan said he believes it would have taken an M-80 or above to blow up the fountain.

Stahl said that some of the other incidents that have occurred in the past couple of months include damage to skate park equipment that caused that park to be closed for repairs, a small fire caused by a flammable substance purposely placed in the wiring of the Williams Park Pavilion and a kicked in electrical meter at the pool that shut down power to the pool and its buildings until repair could be done.

Ron Horton, a public works employee assigned to the parks, said, "It's just been one thing after another. Some of these kids have no respect for anything and will just break stuff to break stuff. The whole community ends up paying for what a couple (of vandals) are doing. It's all of our tax money."

Fagan encourages residents who want to become involved in setting up either neighborhood watch groups or parks watch groups to call him at 847-395-8585.

Fitness stations in place for school start

JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

New cardiovascular fitness equipment is being installed and will be ready for the start of school at both Antioch Community High School (ACHS) and Lakes Community High School (LCHS).

The board of education of Community High School District 117 approved spending $230K for a total of 60 cardio units, 30 for each of the districts two high schools.

Board member Dave Dziki, who cast the only no vote, asked whether all students would have access to the equipment. Additionally, he was interested in expected annual maintenance costs and the life expectancy of the equipment.

Superintendent Jay Sabatino said that all students would have access to the equipment. "The goal is to try to provide a balanced program of lifting and aerobics," he said.

Business manager Bill Ahlers said the cost of maintenance would be about $3,000 after the one-year warranty expires and that he thought the equipment should last at least 15 years with good preventative maintenance, maybe less if the district opens up the use of the equipment to the public.

Debbie Rummel, department chair for health, physical education and driver's education, said, "We want to improve fitness for everybody. We talk about fitness, but in the past the kids never really got the chance to improve."

Rummel said combining the cardio equipment, that includes 10 treadmills, 10 spin bikes, 4 recombinant bicycles, five elliptical machines and one incline trainer, with eight strength training stations, would allow enough stations for a full PE class to rotate through the stations without leaving students standing to wait.

"This is state-of-the-art equipment," she said. "It's programmable, and we will have 10 palm pilots that can create different programs for rehab, or for those who are just starting out with a fitness program and others for those who are advanced."

Carla Thompson, who will be running the fitness program at LCHS, worked with Rummel on the research and selection all of the equipment.

Rummel said the benefit of the combined system is that it will improve both cardiovascular fitness and "functional strength." She said the "free motion" strength training equipment works on the core muscle groups in addition to select, isolated muscles.

"This is great way to work the entire body," she said. "Whether you're building for sports or for shoveling snow, you're never using just one isolated muscle; they work together."

Rummel said she's pleased the board approved the purchase of the equipment.

"I'm very excited," she said. "We will be able use this equipment in conjunction with sports. The faculty will have access to it. It's quite an asset all the way around."

Loon Lakes holds meeting Aug. 21

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Loon Lakes Management Association will hold its annual meeting on Saturday, Aug. 21, from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.

The meeting is open to about 1,000 property owners within the Special Service Area 8 in and around both east and west Loon Lakes. The service area includes all those who live within the Loon Lakes watershed area, an area that encompasses more than lakeside residents and includes Oakland Ridge and Eagles Nest subdivisions.

An election will be held for the positions of president and treasurer. Jim Hammerlund, association secretary, said Tom Keefe is seeking reelection as president and that candidates are being sought for the treasurer position.

"Our treasurer had to resign due to time constraints, and we're looking for new candidates for that position," he said.

Lunch will be served to the residents attending the meeting. The meeting is being held at the Khayat Launch Ramp on West Loon Lake, off of Grass Lake Road.

Hammerlund said the big capital project for the year is a continuation of last year's work: to dredge the channel between east and west Loon Lakes.

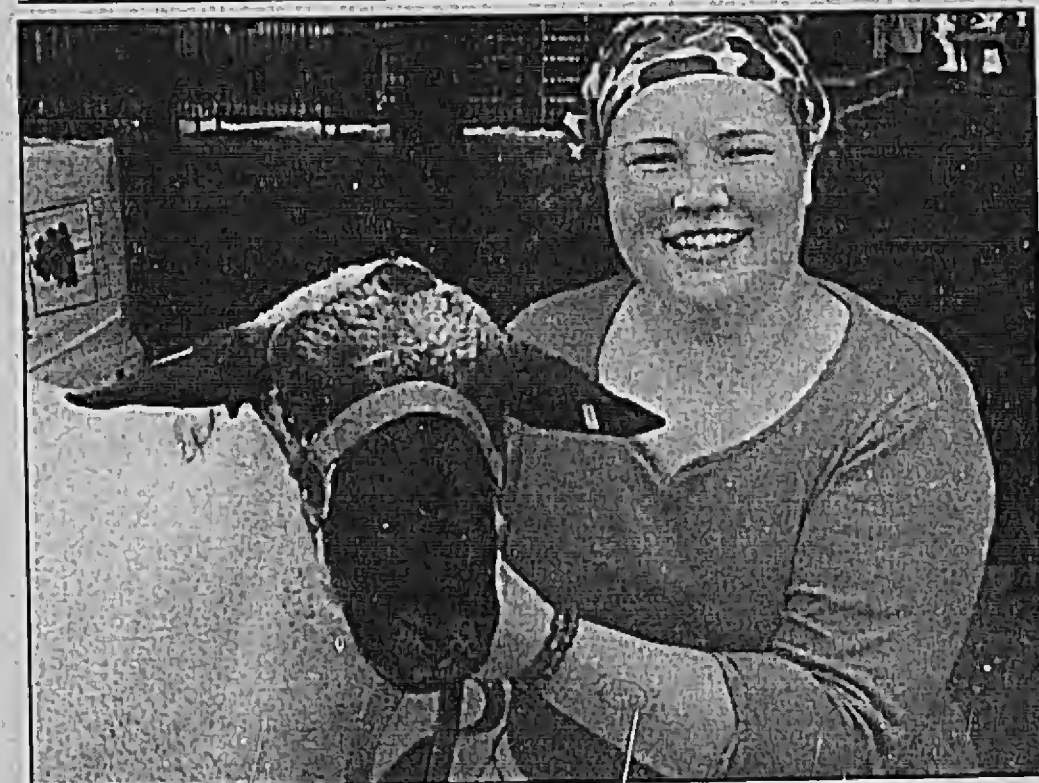

"The Lakes Management Unit of the Lake County Health Department is working on this," said Hammerlund. "Right now, the channel is impassible. We had to get an engineering study done to determine the condition of the seawalls and to determine the depth that we can dredge the channel."

He said representatives from the Lake Management Unit would make a presentation about the channel as well as to give details of the 2003 study that counted fish, did plant mapping and tested the waters.

"These people are the resident experts," Hammerlund said.

Residents of Special Service Area 8 are encouraged to attend the meeting, vote and have some fun over lunch and other planned activities. This meeting is limited to those who own property within this area.

Hammerlund said the area is growing and what used to be an association of about 650 property owners has grown to one of nearly 1,000 property owners.

Jessica Bookwalter takes
15 blue ribbons, 1 grand champion

JULIE MURPHY
jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Raising prize-winning sheep comes naturally to 17-year-old Jessica Bookwalter. She has been helping with the family flock on its Baa Hay Acres farm in Antioch her entire life.

"This is what our family does," Bookwalter said. "My dad has had sheep ever since he was born, and so have I. My grandpa was in sheep for a lot of years."

Jessica took a total of 15 blue ribbons and one grand champion at the Lake County Fair with her purebred Hampshires. Eleven of the blues and the grand champion were in the 4-H division and the remaining four blue ribbons were in the junior division of the open competition.

"We're lucky because we're a smaller farm," Jessica said. "Some of the breeders become like pets and get names in addition to tags, because we know they are going to be with us for a while."

A favorite "pet" of Jessica's is Mr. Frodo, a yearling ram. She said at birth they figure out the lambs' genders and decide which ones are going to stay and which ones are destined to be market lambs.

"The key to raising winners is good care," Jessica said. "We only feed really good quality hay and corn, and we work with them every day. We have to make sure they get exercise and, generally, just spend a lot of time with them."

Jessica said her family would shear the animals themselves if time permits, but more often hire someone to handle that task.

For the future, Jessica said she hopes to add some Hobbit friends for Mr. Frodo.

"It's pretty common to have one or two lambs, and rare to have three or four (from a single sheep)," she said. "Next spring, I hope we have four lambs to be Hobbits for Frodo."

AUGS joins IESA for girls' softball

Antioch Upper Grade School's girls' softball team has joined the IESA (Illinois Elementary Scholastic Association). Team tryouts will be held from 8-10 a.m. beginning on Wednesday, Aug. 11 and concluding on Aug. 13.

Principal Eric Skoog said, "We decided to join because of how well girls' Little League team has done here in Antioch. Last year, we had girls who were on the state championship team who didn't make the school team. I guess it's a good problem to have, but we'd like to have two full teams this year and this should help."

Skoog said that the school's track, cross country and wrestling teams have joined IESA in the past.

Tryouts are open to girls entering the sixth, seventh or eighth grade at AUGS. For more information, call Amanda Tocha, coach, at 847-838-8376.

Advanced notice is not required for tryouts, though a sports physical taken within the past year is required.

Could it really be time to start thinking about back-to-school? Yes, but the Antioch's Parks and Recreation Department won't let summer end without some fun.

us."

The Antioch Fine Arts Foundation Gallery is located at 983 Main Street, Antioch. The hours are 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. on Saturday and noon-4 p.m. on Sunday. The phone number is 847-838-2274.

The Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Area Fine Arts Council, an offshoot of the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce, was created to advance the arts as well as to enhance commerce. However, it is an independent body, with a separate board, with not-for-profit status.

The council is the brainchild of Karen Mezich, who chairs the council's 10-member board, which includes representatives from each village, the township and the library.

Mezich came to Lindenhurst three years ago and opened Lake County Music, a school for children and adults, now located on the Central Baptist Family services campus (the former Lehmann estate). She also runs music programs for the Lindenhurst Park District. In 2002, during the Christmas season, she organized an adult choir.

"I felt the time was right for something like this," she said. She approached a few community leaders through the chamber of commerce, and almost immediately, they began planning what was to be the first of several community events centered on the arts.

The group's mission statement says the organization was created to "promote the performing arts in a beautiful community setting with local artists from the Lake County area, and to enhance the community with different programs."

The first event was a Civil War encampment and re-enactment at the historic Lehmann Mansion, in September 2003, co-sponsored with the new Lake Villa Historical Society just a few months after the council was formed.

It was an unqualified success, and will be back, bigger and better, this year, on Sunday, Sept. 12.

Although an art exhibit will be part of the event, it will not be juried.

This year, the encampment will again be co-sponsored with the historical society. In addition, the evening before the encampment and re-enactment, the historical society will hold a Civil War period fancy dress ball at the mansion.

On Saturday, Sept. 11, at noon, 1 p.m. and 2 p.m., the Lake Villa library will offer a hands-on "pioneer living" exhibit. The following Thursday, Sept. 19, Civil war balladeers will perform at the library at 1 p.m.

This Saturday, Aug. 7, from 10 a.m.-noon, the library is offering a "no-sew" workshop to demonstrate how to make Civil War period gowns that can be worn to the ball.

Cosmic Bowling tickets on sale

JULIE MURPHY

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Tickets are now on sale for the sixth annual mother/son cosmic bowling date night.

"This is a very popular event," said Laurie Stahl, parks and recreation department director. "Tickets are limited to 70 couples."

The event will be held on Sunday, Sept. 12 at the Antioch Bowling Lanes from 6-8 p.m. The evening will feature cosmic bowling, Scotch doubles and crazy bowling. Bumper bowling will be made available upon request.

The fee to attend is $15 per couple for Antioch residents and $25 for non-residents. Moms with more than one son won't have to make a choice which one to bring; $5 per child covers the cost for extras. Ticket sales open up to non-residents after Aug. 30.

Pizza and pop (one pizza, one pitcher per lane) will be served; rental shoes will be provided and memorable photo will be given to each couple as part of the admission price. Because this is a family event, no smoking or drinking will be allowed.

Register at the parks and recreation department office located at 806 Holbek Drive. For more information, call 847-395-2160.

"We sold out of tickets early last year, and expect that we will do the same again this year," said Stahl. "Those wanting to attend shouldn't wait to get their tickets."

FridayFest combines 50s tunes, classic car show

jmurphy@lakelandmedia.com

Elvis sightings will surely be reported on Friday, Aug. 13 when impersonator Mark Hussman makes his appearance at FridayFest featuring the Retrorockets and a classic car show.

Billie Horton, director of special events for the Village of Antioch, said a procession of classic cars would cruise around town before events officially begin off of Skidmore at the William E. Brook bandshell.

"Anyone with a classic car who wants to be part of this can meet at the water tower on Toft at 6 p.m.," Horton said. "They'll cruise around town for a half hour and then assemble on Skidmore and the car show will begin at 6:30 p.m."

As with all FridayFest events, the music will begin at 7:30 p.m. and last until about 9:30 p.m.

Horton said, "This was so much fun last year. We almost ran out space for cars so we've allotted more room for them this year. Kids (of all ages) love the cars, and the music is a lot of fun, and then there's Elvis, too."

In addition to an evening packed with fun, the first 50 cars will receive goodie bags of car-related items. Two trophies will be awarded (sponsor's choice and band's choice) to classic cars deemed extra special.

The Retrorockets band is known for its classic oldies from the 50s and 60s.

According to Horton, Hussman is "the main Elvis" used by the House of Blues in Chicago.

For more information, call Horton at 847-395-6342.

DUI

Ewa Kropornicka, 43, of 4110 Ottawa Ave., Norridge, was arrested for DUI on Aug. 2 at 12:59 a.m. on Route 173 west of Route 45.

Police saw her cross the centerline and she reportedly drove very slowly, 30 mph in a 55-mph zone. When stopped, the officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on her breath.

Kropornicka failed all field sobriety tests requested of her and was arrested and issued a citation for DUI.

She refused chemical testing and was issued additional citations for two counts of improper lane usage. She was released on personal recognizance pending her Sept. 7 court date.

Kristi L. Goodlander, 28, of 25231 W. Claridan Ave., was arrested for DUI on July 31 at 12:49 a.m. on Route 83 at Park Avenue.

Police saw her weave severely and make a wide right turn onto Route 83 from Lake and then onto Park. The officer saw the windshield was obstructed with items hanging from the rearview mirror and that it was cracked.

Goodlander was unable to produce either her driver's license or proof of insurance. The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage. She refused to perform field sobriety tests.

Police reported that when Goodlander was arrested she became belligerent and began shouting obscenities. She reportedly attempted to pull away from police, and then began thrashing when attempts were made to seat her in the squad car.

A check of her identifiers through LEADS/SOS came back with information that Goodlander's driver's license was suspended for a previous DUI. She was arrested and issued citations for improper lane usage and

DUI.

Goodlander refused chemical testing and was issued additional citations for failure to signal, defective windshield, obstructed windshield, no insurance, driving while suspended and resisting a police officer. She was released on cash bond pending court.

Kevin M. O'Kane, 19, of 35849 N. Helendale Road, Ingleside, was arrested for DUI on July 30 at 12:22 a.m. on Route 83 at North Avenue.

Police saw his left tires cross the centerline, and saw him turn into the plaza without signaling. O'Kane told police he had forgotten his driver's license.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage and requested field sobriety tests, all of which O'Kane failed. He confessed to the officer that he was drunk and that he drove that way.

O'Kane was arrested and issued citations for operating left of center, failure to signal and DUI. A Breathalyzer test came back with a .197 blood alcohol concentration.

O'Kane was issued additional citations for a seat belt violation, DUI over .08, having a loud muffler and driver's license not on person. He was held in a cell due to lack of bond.

No valid driver's license

Kevin R. Selvaggio, 40, of 14079 Circle Ave., was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license on July 31 at 11:19 a.m. on Route 173 by the McDonald's.

Police saw him pass six vehicles in a no-passing zone. Selvaggio provided proof of insurance, but said his driver's license was suspended through Florida and this was confirmed through LEADS/NCIC.

He was arrested and issued citations for disobeying a no-passing zone and having no valid driver's license. Selvaggio was released on personal recognizance pending his Aug. 25 court date.

Antioch 11s capture state title

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

The rest of Lake County better look out. Not usually known as a hotbed for softball, Antioch has made an effort to change that in recent years, and if the performance of a certain youth team is any indication, the community could dominate the area in years to come.

It all started two years ago when a group of 9-year-old girls finished second in the 9-10 district tournament as a 9-year-old team.

The first-place team in the district was the 10-year-old team from Antioch. Led by the pitching of Allie Anttila that 10-year team went on to capture the first Little League State Title for Antioch Softball.

One year later, in 2003, Antioch captured its second straight Little League State Title. Back-to-back state titles is quite a feat but what made this most unusual was the fact that it was done with completely different players.

The first state championship team has decided to move away from Little League and play ASA or "travel" softball.

The second team, however, has a different goal in mind. That goal is the Little League World Series in Portland, Ore.

Every year the winner of the 12-year-old age division from the state of Illinois advances to a regional tournament in Joplin, Mo. The winners of the regional tournaments advance to Portland for the Little League World Series.

This season as 11-year-olds, this group of girls won their second straight state title and the third straight title for Antioch Softball.

"It was a total team effort," Coach Kurt Duehr said. "We were a spectacular defensive team and our pitching was deeper. Last year we depended on one or two arms. And our hitting has improved significantly up and down the lineup. Each girl could hit and get on base."

If they can three-peat in 2005 they will be headed to Joplin, Mo. for a regional match up and a chance to play in the Little League World Series which is televised on ESPN.

"Our girls need to work harder than ever to correct some weaknesses because the 12-year-old division is by far the most competitive age division in all of Little League Softball," Duehr said.

The team's road to the title was a long, but successful one. The games included an 11-2 win over Norridge in which Hannah Vandevoorde threw a no-hitter. Antioch then pounded Norridge 28-11 with Vandevoorde, Andi Potkonjak, Olivia Duehr and Nicole

Speck leading the way at the plate.

Game three saw a rematch of the 2003 title game, with Antioch topping Clear Ridge 8-3 behind the strong play of Potkonjak, Vandevoorde and Lauren Tiffany.

The team then lost its first game in two years of tournament play with an 11-7 loss to Sterling. However, the team roared back with a 17-7 win over Clear Ridge, with Sam Kozenski getting the win in her first start and Jessica Liszka netting four hits at the plate.

Antioch then earned a measure of revenge against Sterling, winning two straight games, 11-1 and 16-7 in the title game.

In game one, Vandevoorde threw a no-hitter and Liszka and Melissa Marra led the offensive attack.

In the championship game, Tiffany's four hits and six RBI led the offense, which erupted for 10 runs in the 6th inning to win the state title. Potkonjak got the win.

"The key to this team's success has been the total team concept," Duehr said.

"Everyone knows their role and executes that role to the best of their ability. We win and lose as a team and therefore put no pressure on ourselves individually. None of our players attempts to do everything by themselves."

"There are some key, behind the scenes, people that the team would like to send a huge thank you," Duehr said. "First and foremost, Ken Stille, our pitching guru. We probably would not have repeated without (his expertise). Our second thank you goes to all of our 12-year-old in-house pitchers who made us better hitters. And when we needed to kick it up a notch, Allie Anttila and Rachael Tack were nice enough to stop by and let us take some tips off of their potent pitching."

"Our final thank you goes to everyone who provided the financial assistance needed to run a first class softball program. Some of our major sponsors were Double Eagle, KTR Video, 3 Phase Electric, State Bank of The Lakes, Nielsen Enterprises, Sign A Rama and Premier Dent Repair."

Bitter Sweet 16 finish for Indians 16s

By JOHN PHELPS
Lakeland Correspondent

You never like to see your season come to an end, especially if you're the Kenosha Indians 16-and-under summer baseball team.

Manager Ron Cass and his talented group consisting of Northern Illinois and Southern Wisconsin high school players, made a fine showing in the North American Baseball Federation National Tournament last week in Millington, Tenn.

The Indians went 3-2 before being eliminated in Sweet 16 of the 40-team tournament, which included several squads of not only 16-year-olds, but 17- and 18-year-old teams as well.

"The competition was excellent," said Cass, whose team ended the summer campaign with three tournament titles and two second-place finishes. "In fact, I'm currently making plans so that we can get back into the same tournament next year."

Cass' bunch finished the summer with a 38-8 overall record.

But the best news of all perhaps is the fact that Cass will have most of the same players back for next summer.

"We're satisfied with how we did (in Millington), but next summer we'd like to go even farther," the coach said. "We're excited about having most of the same kids back where we can do that."

Pitching was the catalyst for the Indians this season, especially at the NABF tournament.

"We hit pretty decent down there, but our pitching was great, just like it's been all summer," Cass said. "We also had a couple of base running errors that cost us."

The pitching core consisted of Rockford's Matt Sheldon, Zion's Brent Hermanson, Grayslake's Sean Kuehl, Warren's Adam Worthington and Brian Behnke, and Ben Hermanson, who resides in Antioch.

At the NABF tourney, the most exciting game was the opener. Antioch's Brandon Geweke hit into a fielder's choice, plating Lake Forest's Chris McCormack for a 4-3, 10-inning victory over Shoetique, a team based out of Nashville, Tenn.

McCormack finished 5-for-12 for the tournament. The Indians leading hitter for the series was Warren's Marc Mirretti, who was 7-for-17 at the plate.

Other standout performances included Jensen's 2-hit, complete game 5-0 shutout over the Xenia (Ohio) Bucs.

Worthington also had a complete game, going seven innings with 10 strikeouts as the Indians beat Lakeview (N.Y.) 7-5 to advance into the Sweet 16.

The Indians then wound up being eliminated after losing their next two games, a 4-3 decision to La Hacienda (Calif.) and a 2-1 decision to Burr Ridge, Ill.

Shelton smacked a 2-run single to lead the offense against La Hacienda.

Against Burr Ridge, Mirretti, Worthington, Geweke and Kenosha St. Joseph's Alec Olson as the Indians were held to just four hits. Lake Forest's Steve Konsler had the lone RBI.

The Indians will be playing a limited fall schedule beginning in September, mostly consisting of Sunday double-headers.

"By playing in the fall, the guys can stay in shape and stay polished," Cass said. "It (the fall schedule) will also serve as somewhat of a tryout period for new players that are interested in playing for us next summer."

Corsairs finish 3rd at IHSBCA tourney

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

It's a middle of the order any high school coach would dream of—Jeff Greco, Ryan Meehan and Steve Hironimus.

Not only do those three represent the heart of Carmel's order, but they will also be expected to provide some heart to the team and lead the young Corsairs on the field next season.

"Next year we'll be as good as that group is," Carmel coach Chuck Gandolfi said. "If they do well, we'll have a good season. The other guys are young, they'll come around, but those three (Greco, Meehan and Hironimus) will have to lead the way."

Two of the three, Meehan and Greco, provided some pop for the Corsairs in their semifinal match up of the IHSBCA state tournament in Naperville against Lyons Township on Thursday.

In the 1st inning Greco stepped up with two outs and nailed a solo homer to left to give Carmel a 1-0 lead. It was Greco's 8th round tripper of the summer.

"Jeff had a very good summer for us and a good summer for (Lake Zurich) legion," Gandolfi said. "He has a great approach to hitting—he has very good mechanics and he's always ready to hit. He works as hard at hitting as any player I've ever had."

The Corsairs added another run in the 3rd inning as Meehan led off with a ringing double to right field. With Matt Howard running, he advanced to third on a double from Kyle Stone and scored on a sacrifice fly from Nolan Wieck to give the team a 2-0 lead.

Tim Josupait made that lead stand up for a while, shutting out Lyons Township for the first two innings before the Lions struck back for four runs in the 3rd inning on four hits, a walk and a wild pitch to take a 4-2 lead. All four runs came with two outs in the inning.

"They kept coming up with two-out hits all game," Gandolfi said. "And we couldn't get any."

The Lions scored two more two-out runs in the 5th inning off relief pitcher Matt Diedrich to take a 6-2 lead. They would add two more runs to win by an 8-2 margin.

Carmel had its chances to add to the lead, or catch up, but failed to capitalize with runners in scoring position in the 5th and 6th innings and scored just one run with the bases loaded twice in the 3rd.

The loss dropped the Corsairs' record to 21-16 on the summer. Despite the loss, Gandolfi liked what he saw from his team.

"We'll have a lot of pitching depth next season," Gandolfi said. "And our defense was outstanding all summer."

The Corsairs should have some balance in the lineup as well, as John Brennan and Mike Morrissey will provide some speed at the top of the order in an effort to get into scoring position for the heart of the order.

"Who picks us up offensively is something we'll have to work on," Gandolfi said. "But I like where we're going."

The man expected to lead the pitching staff, senior Kyle Stone, came up big in a 3-2 win over Downer's Grove North on Wednesday.

Not only did he pitch five strong innings to get the win, but Stone also added an RBI single in the 2nd inning to give Carmel a 1-0 lead. Greco added a run-scoring single in the 3rd to put his team up two.

With Carmel up 3-0 in the 4th, Downer's Grove North scored a pair of runs off Stone to cut the lead to 3-2. He managed to escape the inning with the lead intact, though.

Diedrich pitched the final two innings in relief to earn the save.

"We took matters into our own hands and guaranteed us a game on Thursday," said Gandolfi, whose team finished 2-1 in pool play to advance. "Whenever you can advance and get bonus games it gives the kids a pretty good idea of where they can go."

If Gandolfi has his way, his team will go all the way back to state in 2005.

New school on schedule

Grayslake—Grayslake Community High School's Route 83 campus is set to open its doors to students this fall, according to school officials. Karl King, the new campus' principal, said construction will be ongoing throughout the 2004-2005 school year and will be completed in the summer of 2005.

Vandals strike again

Antioch—Within months of the return of the lion's head fountain to Centennial Park, vandals blew up it up. Parks Director Laurie Stahl said it would likely be a couple months before repairs can be completed and reinstalled. The vandalism reportedly occurred at about 10 p.m. on July 29. Police Chief Chuck Fagan made a plea for residents to become more involved in reporting suspicious activity.

No loans for flooded homes

Gurnee—Village trustees voted against borrowing money to accelerate the purchase of flood properties, saying they do not wish to put a burden on the village. Federal appraisals on the properties determined the village would need slightly more than $3 million to buy the homes.

Republicans supporting Democrat in Lake County board race

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

A Republican power couple is supporting Democrat Steve Skinner in the Lake County Board race in District 6 over Republican Larry Leafblad.

District 6 incumbent Don Bauer (R-Round Lake Park) and his wife Mayor Ila Bauer are crossing party lines in hopes of defeating Leafblad who won the Republican nomination in the March primary.

Bauer who defeated Leafblad two years ago in the Republican primary chose not to run again because of health reasons.

He said, "Steve and I have a lot of the same ideas on how the government should work."

His wife was a little more specific. "While I am a Republican, I have long been an independent thinker and doer. I base my choices upon what I perceive to be the basic character of a person. Does he or she portray the six pillars of character? Respect is one of the six pillars, and I feel that Steve will respect his constituency in the Round Lake area far more than Larry has in the past," Mayor Bauer said.

"I know that Steve has a great deal to learn about being a county board representative but he does have fresh ideas and will not hesitate to ask questions. Further, he recognizes the need for economic development and will not try to stifle controlled and sensible growth. When I talk to Steve, I don't get the feeling that he is constantly looking for a way to make himself look good. I believe that he really listens and will continue to listen to his constituency," the mayor added.

Skinner said he was thrilled to have the Bauers on his team.

"I'm grateful for Don and Ila's support and it is opening doors to other supporters," Skinner said.

Legislators argue for mercury reductions

By KYLE SCHMITT
kschmitt@lakelandmedia.com

The tall smokestacks of the Midwest Generation power plant, juxtaposed with a giant inflatable fish, lent an appropriate background to a series of presentations made in Waukegan July 28, as legislators and environmental-issue advocates argued for statewide standards restricting mercury pollution in Illinois.

Looming in the eastern horizon, the coal-burning power plant served as a target for several speakers at the event, held at Bowen Park and promoted by the Illinois Public Interest Research Group. Waukegan Mayor Richard Hyde, State Representative Kathleen A. Ryg (D-Vernon Hills) and other public officials called upon Governor Rod Blagojevich to require such power plants, which emit 6,000 pounds of mercury in Illinois each year, to cut their levels of emitted mercury by 90 percent over the next five years.

Mercury from coal-burning plants settles in lakes and streams and accumulates in fish tissue, hence the large aquatic prop that rested to the left of the speakers' podium. The state has issued warnings for women who may have children to limit fish consumption from Lake Michigan and every body of water throughout the state, Illinois PIRG Education Fund environmental attorney Rebecca Stanfield said.

Stanfield claimed that people who eat fish from those waters put themselves at risk for neurological damage.

"Mercury exposure can cause severe health problems, including learning disabilities, loss of vision, loss of motor skills and developmental retardation," Stanfield said. "These are not risks we can afford to take with our children's health."

"It's so insidious. And people don't know about it," said State Rep. Karen May (D-Highland Park). "You're talking about an insidious bio-accumulative neurotoxin that can destroy the brains of young children."

"If this doesn't make people's blood boil, I don't know what will."

The federal Environmental Protection Agency will present national standards for mercury reduction this coming spring, said Doug McFarlan, vice-president of public affairs for Midwest Generation. He said that Midwest Generation supports the creation of mercury standards for its power plants, and that the company has worked with the U.S. Department of Energy to test various methods of pollution reduction, including sorbent injections that would absorb mercury during the combustion process.

He said that setting state standards for Illinois power plants that differ from those utilized in other states would be superfluous, and possibly harmful to the public.

"If states have a patchwork of standards, then you'll have companies in some parts of the county that are required to make different investments than in other parts of the country," McFarlan said. "When that happens, you can have a situation where jobs are at risk."

"Some companies may be forced to shut down their power plants, and (state standards) could

Hispanic leader promoting unity

Posen hopes to educate community

By JEFF ZACHARY
jzachary@lakelandmedia.com

After meeting with Waukegan City officials and Hispanic college students, Rosa Reyes-Prosen, president of the United Latino Coalition talked with enthusiasm about her organization.

The coalition is currently involved in the Grassroots Leadership Training Program, which was created by the United States Hispanic Leadership Institute.

"The principal objective of the training program is to promote and facilitate constructive dialogue and interaction between Latino citizens and public officials who are responsible for administering their local city, county and school governments," Prosen said.

She added that Hispanic citizens will gain a better understanding about how local governments function and how citizens can play a more effective role in influencing and formulating public policy.

At the same time, public officials will gain a better appreciation for the interests and needs of the Hispanic community and their interest in public affairs.

"My meetings with local public officials to present the program have been met with a positive response. In recent months, there have been controversial issues that the City of Waukegan has been confronted with some Latino groups, such as the vehicle seizure ordinance. Although I believe that we live in a country where we can voice how we feel about the issues, I also believe leaders need to learn that how we voice those issues and concerns can make or break important relationships," Prosen said.

"We need to work at becoming leaders that promote peace and respect even with our worst enemies, or those whom we may perceive to be the enemy. As the president of the coalition, I am proud to say that many of our members are good models of how to approach issues that we face in our community in a proactive and reactionary manner," she added.

Prosen said she hopes to see the leadership program extend to all parts of Lake County.

Aviation Open House takes flight

By KYLE SCHMITT
kschmitt@lakelandmedia.com

Frequent flyers and curious spectators alike will converge on the Waukegan Regional Airport on Saturday, Aug. 7 for the airport's Aviation Open House. The event will feature civilian planes, homebuilt aircraft and live music, as well as the combat planes that helped protect America's freedom during the last several decades.

Open house attendees will have the opportunity to see fighter and bomber planes from numerous eras of combat, take rides in civilian aircraft and watch as aircraft perform "fly-bys" and aerobatics programs. Admission and parking are free.

Event organizers expect more than 10,000 visitors to attend the 3rd annual event, said airport manager Jim Stanczak.

"It's a community event and a great family event," Stanczak said. "You can bring out the kids and teach them a little bit about aviation."

Event "air boss" Jeff Clark said this year's show would eclipse last year's event, which was hindered by problems with various aircraft.

"We've got a lot more aircraft and much more diverse aircraft to show the folks on the ground and in the air," he said. "There's a better, more interesting static display and better performers and planes."

Some of the U.S. military's top aircraft will be present, including the B-17 Air Force bomber that flew in Europe during World War II, and the famed "Billy Mitchell bomber," the Air Force's B-25 "Barbie III."

North American T-28 Trojans, the primary trainers for U.S. pilots at the dawn of the jet age, will be utilized for a group formation flight. And modern aviation will be represented by the T-2 Buckeye, a current Navy trainer and one of only two privately held models in the world.

The combat aircraft remains a popular draw for the public, Stanczak said. "People are very interested in seeing these airplanes. Last year we had a Black Hawk, and you wouldn't believe the attraction it drew."

Events begin in dramatic fashion at 10 a.m., when a color guard presentation and parachutists team-jump kick off the day's festivities. All aircraft involved in the show, such as the Waco biplane, will be open for viewing, as will model airplanes and even homebuilt aircraft.

Children ages 6-16 may take free "young eagles" rides in civilian aircraft, and for $25 visitors can fly as passengers in a four-seat helicopter. Visitors may also participate in a Waukegan Fire Department-sponsored fire simulation, which will teach participants what to do when inside a burning building.

Aerial performances will take place between 2 and 4 p.m., as L-39 Albatross jet trainers, gliders and the ultra-fast Buckeye take flight. The Coast Guard will perform a search and rescue demonstration utilizing a high-performance turbine helicopter.

An exciting addition to this year's aerial show will be the "wing-walker" event, in which a willing daredevil stands on the wing of a biplane and attempts to maintain balance as the vehicle flies.

Entertainment will continue throughout the afternoon and evening. The Brass Ambassadors, a Navy Band whose members are on active duty, will perform from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and the festivities will conclude with the Hangar Dance from 7 to 11 p.m. Admission to the dance is $10, and will be restricted to those 21 years or older.

Another rabid bat found in county

By NICHOLAS ALAJAKIS
nicka@lakelandmedia.com

With the discovery of the county's second rabid bat in less than a month, county health officials are urging residents to avoid contact with the flying rodents.

A bat found last week in a Waukegan backyard tested positive for rabies. The first rabies-infected bat was found in Libertyville in early July. Since 2001, eight bats in the county have tested positive for rabies. They are the only animal in the past five years to test positive, said Lake County Health department spokeswoman Leslie Piotrowski.

Normally reluctant of human contact, a rabid bat act strange, Piotrowski said. Odd behavior can include flying in the daytime, a rarity for a nocturnal animal, crawling on the ground, or entering a home. The odd behavior can lead to human encounters.

During encounters the Health Department is asking residents to avoid contact. If a bat is found it should be left alone, and proper authorities should be contacted, Piotrowski said.

Bats can give rabies to humans. The most common transfer of the disease is through a bite. But is the saliva of a bat comes in contact with an open wound, eyes or mouth, a human can also get rabies, Piotrowski said.

Pets can also become victim to a bat bite, and in turn bite a human, Piotrowski said. Rabies is a viral disease that affects the nervous system. If not treated it can be fatal.

The reason bats are more common carriers of rabies, is because they live in large colonies, and are constantly coming in contact with other bats.

Bats can most commonly be found in the northern part of the county, where they can live in high trees, or even a home's attic. The health department estimates that about 1 percent of bats may be infected with rabies.

As the department continues to test bats, Piotrowski said they are asking that humans do not harm bats they come in contact with. A damaged bat can not be properly tested for rabies.

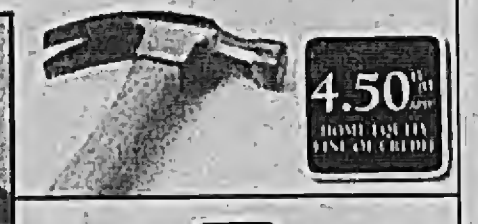

To report a possibly sick bat, contact the health department at 847-949-9925.

Crane meshes with voters in 8th

Paraphrasing the Great Communicator, "There they go again." President Reagan offered that light-hearted aside as a gentle, soft-spoken means of disarming critics finding fault with his conservative philosophy and old-fashioned set of American values. The line always drew laughs and drove home a point with laser-like precision.

"There they go again" also applies to the naysayers and opponents of U.S. Rep. Phil Crane (R-8th), the long time representative in Congress of the voters in central and west Lake County, and parts of northwest Cook County and McHenry County. Crane, 73, has been in Congress more than 30 years and today stands as the longest serving Washington lawmaker in both houses.

With approximately three months to go to the fall election, Democratic opponents, pundits in the media and even some detractors in his own party, are trotting out a familiar refrain. "Crane is out of touch." "Crane is too old." "Crane doesn't represent a rapidly changing district." "Crane hasn't sponsored any important legislation." "Phil has lost his intensity."

Sunday newspaper feature writers have been updating shopworn stories predicting the demise of Crane, who first was elected to Congress in 1969. They describe Republican leaders as being "anxious" and "nervous" about the Wauconda resident's chances in 2004. A second and in some cases third generation of liberal media pundits and mushy moderates is conducting the bi-annual ritual of writing off the redoubtable GOP warrior long before polling day. Crane's conservatism and smaller government policies never have sat well with left-leaning Chicago and suburban editorialists. They write him out of the race and then backwater after the votes are counted. Oh, the games that are played.

Gary Skoien, Cook County Republican Party chairman and a two-time challenger of Crane in the primary, explained Phil's hold on the 8th District electorate. Skoien said Crane's anti tax, free-trade philosophy and his stand on cultural issues mesh well with voters in the 8th district portion of Lake County that includes Zion, Gurnee, Antioch, Fox Lake, the Round Lake area, Grayslake, Wauconda, Hawthorn Woods, Barrington, Deer Park and Kildeer. The fact is that Congressman Crane fits the mood of the 8th like a glove.

Voters in the 8th see Phil Crane as a vigorous, committed, knowledgeable "keeper of the flame" of conservatism. They admire his unwavering stance in support of free market principals, promotion of individualism and advocacy of lifting the tax burden on Americans.

Phil was there for like-minded conservatives in the 1970s when his firm voice amounted to a cry in the wilderness, finally taking hold in 1980. And the majority of voters are with him to this day. It's been a winning combination.

Prairie Parkway's friend in Congress

Contrary to what suburban motorists consider as dilly-dallying at high levels of government when it comes to providing a major response to highway gridlock, senior politicians in Illinois do have convictions about what to do. And they're leaning toward construction of an expressway along the far western fringe of suburbs.

They're following the lead of U.S. House Speaker Dennis Hastert (R-IL), a prime proponent for building a north-south link between Interstate 88 and 80 through the rapidly growing area that includes Hastert's hometown of Yorkville. So what ever happened to the Rte. 53 extension in Lake County? Good question.

Even as conditions worsen on Lake County highways, political leaders with their hands on the purse strings and road builders in Illinois ready to build—anything—don't let the "outer-belt" project get too far off the radar scene while professing that funding isn't about to happen. Hastert's pet project is known as Prairie Parkway.

Officially, the Illinois Dept. of Transportation has not requested any funding for the project, which would be the official door-opener in Washington for outer-belt construction. Opponents of Prairie Parkway have been informed that IDOT is in an early phase of a long-term study to address transportation needs of a 1,600 square mile, six county area. So many studies. Such little time. Who can remember them all?

None of this information puts Rte. 53 in a better light. Realistically, quite the contrary. Simply put, Prairie Parkway has friends in high places. Rte. 53 doesn't.

VIEWPOINT

Demos applaud GOP rhetoric

Party faithful at the Democratic national convention in Boston howled with approval over the words of Sen. John Kerry as he accepted the nomination for President. They were unmindful that some of his telling phrases had been uttered before—by Republicans.

Most notable was Kerry's utterance that "America's best days are ahead," originally intoned in part or exact words by candidate Ronald Reagan in the campaign of 1980 when he insisted that America didn't have to accept the malaise over which President Jimmy Carter presided.

With breathtaking unoriginality, Kerry lifted the idea and phrase that "America can do better," repeating the catch phrase so conventioners could join in a chant. Kerry's "Help is on the way" assurance is a variation of a theme used successfully by the Bush-Cheney team four years ago.

Kerry implored the convention hall audience and national television audience to join him in the fight to restore American respect and leadership. That was one of the key points of George W. Bush's argument for change after eight years of Clinton-Gore highlighted by the sordid Lewinsky capers.

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Unbelievably, Kerry was using Republican words and ideas against President Bush. They sounded compelling when first introduced to the American political mainstream. He must think the ideas still have marketability. Was he pandering to the elusive 10 percent undecided?

Kerry's speech was riddled with hypocrisy and cliches. Plans for economic recovery included "new investment," "closing tax loop holes," and establishing a "fair playing field." Yawn. Health care will be improved by having the government "contribute to premiums." The Massachusettses liberal couldn't resist the class warfare card. Making health care the right of all Americans, "not just the wealthy." Ugh. Kerry made a pointed jab at the Bush family for oil dealing with the Saudis to meet energy demands, totally ignoring that Democratic opposition to Alaskan drilling to promote energy dependence. The Democratic nominee must think average Americans are dunces about partisan politics. Kerry was most on target in advocating stem cell research which the Bush administration has failed to embrace.

Maybe Kerry's advisers will let him try to get away with lifting Republican campaign phrases and positions. But Bush operatives won't. Then there's the sort of "double agent" theory that the Kerry nomination response was a deliberate snow job to bait the Republicans into making reckless responses. I've been thinking a lot about the comings and going of the Democratic week in Boston. The one I still don't get is the story about dad Kerry giving CPR to daughter's hamster rescued from the briny deep after falling overboard.

COMMENTARY

Something unhealthy—at State's hospital planning

There is something very "unhealthy" going on at the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board. That's the state agency with the responsibility to review and determine whether construction of major projects by hospitals are needed or not.

For too long, it has been said that the "certificate of need process" is more a matter of who has the political clout to gain approval of new or expansion projects than whether applications meet proper standards for approval. It's the old broken record of "show me the money" that is apparently raising its ugly head in this latest expose of how hospitals get the "green light."

I have always had a gut feeling that the whole hospital approval process was a scandal waiting to happen. It now appears that it may have been "an on-going scandal."

This ugly mess may finally see the light of day as a whistleblower lawsuit alleges that kickbacks and shakedowns are the way of doing business to get approval of hospital projects in Illinois. The alleged wrongdoers are probably more nervous that the feds are investigating the board.

The civil lawsuit alleges that the planning board approved plans for a hospital because it would be constructed by a politically connected Deerfield contractor. Also, there was pressure that the financing would be done by a bonding house with a lobbyist who had questionable political connections in the process.

The whole procedure had such a stench to it that the legislature didn't wait for any conclusions drawn from either the lawsuit or the federal investigation. It directed that the governor appoint a new nine-member board.

There are some newspapers editorializing that the whole procedure of regulating hospital expansion should be abandoned, and it should all be open to competition. My position is different. I believe that when you leave healthcare totally up to free enterprise, the providers of it will be more con-

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Looking forward to Obama visit

Lake County Democrats eagerly are looking forward to a campaign visit from U.S. Senate nominee Barak Obama, who may be entitled to catch his breath after completing a 30-county, 39-city "fire engine" downstate trek following his triumph at the national convention in Boston.

Demo leaders are satisfied that Obama "paid sufficient" attention to Lake County, but they point out attendance at his gatherings sometimes was on the sparse side due to the wide-open field in the Democratic primary. Obama didn't lock up early commitments in Lake County. Long-time party activist Betty-Ann Moore, supervisor of Libertyville Township, admitted that she supported Illinois Comptroller Dan Hynes for the nomination. "He called him early and I said I'd support him. But Obama is a wonderful candidate. He'll do well for our state," Moore predicted.

One of Obama's early supporters in Lake County was State Sen. Terry Link (D-Waukegan), county party chairman. As a seatmate of Obama in the General Assembly, Link was among the Chicago lawyer's earliest supporters.

Moore predicted that Obama's visits to Lake County between now and November voting day will be "well attended and enthusiastic."

'Feeling good'

The annual Lake County Fair wouldn't be official without former Lake County Sheriff Clint Grinnell in attendance. Battling ill health in recent years, the long-time lawman pronounced himself "feeling good" from a comfortable seat in the hog barn. Grinnell served as a fair department head for many years, often including his prized Belgian matched hitch for appearances in the fair program. Grinnell and his wife, Marian, continue to make their home on a farm in Fremont Township. Grinnell was chief of police of Libertyville before being elected sheriff.

Supports gays

Lee Goodman, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 10th District, is taking incumbent Mark Kirk to task for passing his vote on a proposal that would strip the federal courts of jurisdiction over gay marriages. In saying that he would have voted against the bill, Goodman deplored Republican efforts to stigmatize gays and turn them into second-class citizens.

Quick response

State Sen. Pamela Althoff (R-Crystal Lake) had a quick answer for Patrick Oulmet, a civil rights attorney who says new leadership is needed in the 32nd District to build sorely needed roads. Althoff announced $5,344,000 worth of highway improvements for the district, based of $280 million freed up after Republicans demanded major forms in the way transportation dollars are allocated. GOP lawmakers stood firm on ending the Governor's ability to raid the Road Fund for day-to-day operations. Besides seeking road improvements, Oulmet aims to make health care coverage affordable and get more education dollars from Springfield for the district.

Targeting help

Shields Township residents approve of funding for local social causes, but aren't enthralled with increasing pay of their elected township representatives. The township doled out $5,000 each to the Mother Trust Foundation and the Career Resource Center. Supervisor Charles Fitzgerald, who took passage of a non-binding referendum on cutting back township pay, said the two grants represented "targeted" help with the greatest return for the outlay. The township includes North Chicago, Lake Bluff and Lake Forest.

Golden days ahead

Lindenhurst Mayor Jim Betustak won't be pinned down with reelection matters next year as he leads the way for the village's 50th anniversary in 2006. Lindenhurst is one of a handful of Lake County municipalities that conducts mayoral elections on "off" years so Betustak has a way to go. Besides, he's got the team of Richard Frank and Anna Klebba to handle golden anniversary arrangements.

Happy birthday

Congressman Phil Crane (R-IL) was among dignitaries attending a U.S. Coast Guard 214th birthday observance last Sunday at Waukegan Regional Airport. Crane is stepping up personal appearances as the countdown nears for the November election. The Coast Guard maintains a helicopter rescue team at Waukegan to serve boaters on Lake Michigan from Manitowoc to Calumet and the Chain O' Lakes.

Scooter control?

The Village of Third Lake is among the growing number of municipalities looking at the need to control scooters. Mayor Donna Golchert has issued an invitation to residents to record their opinions on whether scooter control ordinances are necessary by calling 847-223-8422 or faxing 847-223-9356.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Completing the Rudd picture

The recent article in your newspaper regarding the work being done at the Mother Rudd House was very interesting. Unfortunately it wasn't complete.

It is wonderful PR when a corporation such as Sears, Roebuck and Co. comes in and furnishes the volunteer hours and the money to do the planting that was done in the several locations mentioned. The article only briefly mentioned that some of the money spent was spent at locations other than at Mother Rudd.

In 1999 the Arbor Garden Club, a small but active Club, redid the plantings around the Mother Rudd House to be in keeping with its heritage. The plantings were designed to reflect the type of vegetation that would have been in the area around 1845. The lovely shrub roses, the Serviceberry trees, the many viburnums, daylilies, and other flowers were planted by the Arbor Garden Club and maintained through the years by this Garden Club. Only the lack of funds prevented us from finishing the barn. Mother Rudd is definitely a place to be revered. May we all enjoy its heritage and preserve it.

Offended may leave

"I am tired of this nation worrying about whether we are offending some individual or their culture. Since the terrorist attacks on Sept. 11, we have experienced a surge in patriotism by the majority of Americans. However, the dust from the attacks had barely settled when the "politically correct" crowd began complaining about the possibility that our patriotism was offending others.

I am not against immigration, nor do I hold a grudge against anyone who is seeking a better life by coming to America. Our population is almost entirely made up of descendants of immigrants. However, there are a few things that those who have recently come to our country, and apparently some born here, need to understand. This idea of America being a multicultural community has served only to dilute our sovereignty and our national identity. As Americans, we have our own culture, our own society, our own language and our own lifestyle. This culture has been developed over centuries of struggles, trials, and victories by millions of men and women who have sought freedom.

We speak ENGLISH, not Spanish, Portuguese, Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, or any other language. Therefore, if you wish to become part of our society, learn the language.

"In God We Trust" is our national motto. This is not some Christian, right wing, political slogan. We adopted this motto because Christian men and women, with Christian principles and values, founded this nation, and this is clearly documented. It is certainly appropriate to display it on the walls of our schools. If God offends you, then I suggest you consider another part of the world as your new home, because God is part of our culture by choice.

If Stars and Stripes offend you, or if you do not like Uncle Sam, then you should seriously consider a move to another part of this planet. We are happy with our culture and have no desire to change, and we really don't care how you did things where you came from. This is OUR country, our land, and our lifestyle. Our first amendment gives every citizen the right to express his opinion and we will allow you every opportunity to do so. However, once you are done complaining, whining, and griping about our flag, our pledge, our national motto, or our way of life, I highly encourage you to take advantage of one other great American freedom—THE RIGHT TO LEAVE.

Kill condo plan

The builder for the proposed Hainesville Road project in Round Lake Park has cynically proposed building a 252 unit senior-oriented condominium complex with commercial space for businesses and an estimated 2 parking spaces per unit. Statistically, at this density, an additional 1,500 automobile trips will saturate an already congested Hainesville / Washington corridor.

Round Lake Park prudently wants to increase its tax revenues, preferably by adding new businesses to the community. But, even the builder admitted that the feasibility for business to thrive in that location is very low. Additionally, there will be 12 handicapped parking spaces (the legal requirement), not exactly catering to seniors or to the businesses.

If families with children purchase these units, the development plan allows for virtually no open space for children to play. Where will the children play? More accurately, having no where to play, what will the children do?

The builder also didn't mention whether units would be allowed to rent, turning the complex into a giant apartment complex.

This proposal will bring in limited cash to a small village and will likely saddle the residents with a hefty tax increase to support the increases in services, police, etc.

This is a proposal that shouldn't be amended. It should be killed. I hope that the Round Lake Park board has the courage to support their community and not just developers.

Power of people

Lake County needs adequate infrastructure built immediately, because of the population growth, traffic is getting worse; so we need to create more awareness to get this issue of the table. I have not seen many articles about this issue, so I would like to challenge your paper in making notice of this important issue. Illinois has some of the worst traffic and received a low-grade approval of its infrastructure according to an article from Wendell Cox, Aug. 5, 2002, www.illinoisleader.com. Signs of people moving further northwest into Lake County are popping up everywhere. These signs consist of new home construction, major retailers moving in, and traffic itself getting worse.

My commute has increased 15 minutes more from last year. Small talk around neighbors revolves around traffic worsening or which route is faster. Other signs of growth are major retailers moving in, Super Target in Mundelein, Home Depot and restaurants like Wild Buffalo Wings in Round Lake Beach. If these businesses are aware of the population growth, why hasn't our county or state noticed the growth by addressing the increasing traffic problem that comes with it?

Now how do we create awareness and get this issue on the table? Well, some people want the Rte. 53 extension and some for more mass transit. An adequate infrastructure consists of both. We need more dialogue of why infrastructure is at a standstill. There are enough people moving into Lake County that can make a change. Please make them aware they have this power.

cerned about profits than patients. Reforms might be needed to insure that hospital planning boards follow guidelines so that rigorous standards for approval are met.

By the way, Governor Rod Blagojevich may have "dirty hands" in the whole mess. Two of the board members that he recently appointed were tapped just two weeks after they each contributed $25,000 to his political campaign. Now, there's a governor that claimed that there won't be "business as usual" when he becomes the governor. He may just be right. In the second half of his first year of governor, he raised a record $5 million dollars in campaign funds. In other words, he may have just meant, "my price comes higher."

The scandal surrounding the health facilities planning agency may have some local impact. Vista, which wants to close its St. Therese Medical Center and keep its Victory Memorial Hospital open so that it can open a facility in Lindenhurst may find that its certificate of need application will be significantly delayed.

This scandal has such far-reaching implications on how the healthcare industry has been regulated in Illinois in the past, that I believe that all applications before the board should be "put on hold" until the process has been cleaned up. We should not be about the business of lining the pockets of the politically connected at the expense of patients who really need health care. It's about time that the government puts "people before politics," and when it comes to public health, it should be "lives before loot."

COUNT & BRIEFS

School supplies needed

As many families get ready for the upcoming school year, there is the hustle and bustle of purchasing the correct school supplies for every child. The school supply list is often shuffled from child to parent and from parent to child to make sure everything has been purchased.

Catholic Charities Family Services of Lake County has a school supply wish list (to be fulfilled by the start of the 2004-05 school year) of school. Supplies such as markers, pencils, paper, glue, pens folders, new gym shoes, gym uniforms, computers and any other donations would be very beneficial for the foster children in care. Please provide any donations before school starts. This will allow foster families ample time to make other plans if needed. Donations can be dropped off at our office located 671 S. Lewis Ave. in Waukegan.

The script for the play is available at the circulation desk in the CLC library, and interested persons must perform a one-minute monologue during the audition.

Gallery hours are 8 a.m.-9 p.m., Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Friday and Saturday and 1-5 p.m., Sunday. For information, contact Steve Jones, curator at 847-543-2240.

Schneider joins CASA board

Michael Schneider has joined the board of directors of the Lake County Court Appointed Special Advocates. Volunteers of the Deerfield based organization, also known as CASA, are the voice of abused and neglected children who through no fault of their own appear in juvenile court. Schneider, a Lake County resident, says he became interested in CASA because it is a charitable organization that has a "direct impact on the future of children in the Lake County court system through the efforts of its volunteers." He learned about CASA through his wife, Alicia, who has been an advocate for several years.

effect the cost and supply of electricity."

Several speakers argued that state standards must be stricter than the proposed national regulations, as Illinois plants emit more mercury than those in all but four other states. Ryg said that public health concerns mandate the implementation of such statewide regulations.

Mercury intake may cause asthma in some cases, Ryg stated. "We're here to try to ask the governor to prevent this unnecessary pollution that causes these unnecessary diseases," she said.

Peggi Braden, a certified school nurse for the Waukegan School District, claimed to have witnessed a yearly increase in the number of children she treats who have asthma. She said she also believed that local mercury emissions contributed to the rising number of asthmatic episodes.

"There's no decision to be made, if it can be done it should be done," Braden said of the argument for mercury reduction.

There is a public and personal stake in the matter for Hyde, who estimated that he has eaten fish out of Lake Michigan at least once a week for the past 50 years. The mayor said he has received complaints from local motorists, boaters and fishermen about the soot produced by the power plants.

"Any time you put a pollutant in the air, it's going to hinder someone or something," he said.

Hyde said that the costs associated with instituting mercury controls may prohibit immediate restrictions on coal-burning plants, and that the state government's financial concerns currently override the possible threat to public health.

"It's on the backburner because they don't see any immediate danger right now," he said.

The governor's administration is required to issue a report on the need for new standards limiting pollution from the state's 23 coal-burning power plants by Sept. 30. The administration then has 90 days to propose regulations to the Illinois Pollution Control Board that can set mandatory restrictions on power plant pollution.

May professed hope that Blagojevich would propose statewide mercury regulations, and estimated that the chances of getting acceptable measures through the state

General Assembly in the next two years are about 50 percent. She acknowledged, however, that the issue threatens to divide the state along regional lines.

"It will be a major battle in Springfield because mining and using coal bring jobs to southern Illinois," she said.

Save-A-Pet celebrates reunion of adopted pets

BY GINNY SKWERES
ginnys@lakelandmedia.com

The Save-A-Pet no-kill animal shelter is celebrating 32 years of saving the lives of animals by inviting former shelter guests and their owners to an anniversary reunion that begins at noon on Saturday. The shelter is at 31664 North Fairfield in Grayslake.

Families who have adopted a pet through the shelter are invited to participate. The cat or dog may enjoy the visit; much like Snoopy enjoys visiting the Daisy Hill Puppy Farm from time to time. The shelter has sent pets home with families not only in Lake County, but also beyond the Illinois borders.

At 1 p.m. a local minister will offer a pet blessing to the pets that were adopted and as well as to those available for adoption at the shelter. Owners who can't bring their pet are invited to bring a photo of their pet and share their stories.

The Half Day Bluegrass band will create the music for the afternoon. There will also be refreshments and food for sale, contests for kids and animals, games, raffles and a bake sale.

Signs of anxiety and depression

Be aware and catch it early

Discussing your psychological concerns with family and friends is not a common occurrence at the dinner table or at social gatherings, for fear of embarrassment or discomfort. After all, sometimes the warning signs of these disorders can be difficult to recognize, and you don't want to feel foolish about voicing your worries if you are not officially diagnosed with a problem.

One in 10 people experience symptoms of depression, and anxiety is nearly just as common. Therefore, you are not alone in your concerns. If you haven't been feeling quite like yourself lately, review the symptoms of these conditions and discuss any you may suffer from with your doctor. That way, you can feel better faster.

Depression

Everyone has the blues at one time or another, but if symptoms intensify or persist for more than two weeks, medical intervention may be necessary. Depression can have very real physical and emotional symptoms, including:

- Persistent sadness or unhappiness
- Frequent crying
- Sleeping difficulty
- Decreased energy and/or motivation
- Appetite changes
- Difficulty concentrating
- Hopelessness
- Morbid or suicidal thoughts

You may not experience all symptoms; however, if you suspect that you are suffering from depression, seek the assistance of your health-care provider. He or she may prescribe medication or behavioral treatment. Or you may be referred to a psychologist or psychiatrist for a more in-depth evaluation. Most episodes of depression are successfully treated within three months to two years with a combination of medication and therapy being more effective than either one alone, according to some studies. Failure to treat depression can lead to missed days of work, marital problems, impaired work ability and serious problems that could require acute treatment.

Anxiety

Another common mental-health disorder is anxiety. Like depression, many people have experienced brief or situational anxiety. Persistent feelings should be analyzed by a medical professional.

Anxiety may range from small phobias to an inability to deal with crowded areas. Here are some of its most common symptoms:

- Endless checking or rechecking actions
- A constant and unrealistic worry about everyday occurrences and activities
- Fear and anxiety that appear for no apparent reason

According to Dorothy Cantor, Ph.D., former president of the American Psychological Association, "People need to talk about what's bothering them. Anxiety often comes about when people hold in their fears until they begin to feel anxiety. People shouldn't wait until they're paralyzed with anxiety before they seek some kind of consultation." Apart from anti-anxiety medication, sufferers are often encouraged to try behavioral treatments and relaxation therapies.

Afterschool activities engage curious kids

With more parents working, the need for quality after school care is more important than ever. That's been Afterschool Club's specialty since 1985.

Afterschool Club (ASC) gives Lake County's students a safe, fun place to go after school, while offering peace of mind to working parents. Under the supervision of experienced caregivers, children enjoy a wide variety of enriching activities, like games, crafts, sports and more.

Most ASC programs are offered right on school premises. (When schools don't have space, students are bused to a nearby ASC center). When mom or dad picks them up after work, kids always have plenty to tell them: things they learned, games they played, friends they made.

ASC's schedule is designed to meet the needs of real-life working parents. Centers are open Monday - Friday from the time school ends until 6 p.m.. ASC is also open on school holidays and early dismissal days. (More dependable than babysitters, ASC never "calls in sick" at the last minute.) Some locations also include before-school care and half-day kindergarten care.

Studies have revealed that after-school programs make a difference. Research indicates that latch key kids who come home alone are at higher risk for academic and social problems-from receiving poor grades to dropping out of school.

On the other hand, kids attending after-school programs get better grades, have more positive peer relationships, and exhibit more appropriate conduct. And they also have more fun.

ASC is one of America's original after-school care programs. The company was formed in 1985 by an energetic junior high school teacher named Linda Rix.

"As soon as I became a parent," says Mrs. Rix, a mother and grandmother, "I became aware of the childcare dilemma facing working parents."

Today, ASC programs are found in Diamond Lake, Fox Lake, Grayslake/Woodland, Lake Forest, Lake Villa/Lindenhurst, Libertyville, Millburn, Oak Grove, Spring Grove and Vernon Hills. (If ASC care is not available in your school, call your district and ask for it.)

Because the curriculum was developed by an educator, it's filled with enriching activities that help kids develop social and communication skills, creativity, and independent thinking—all while building self-esteem.

Enriching fun and reliable care—that's what ASC is all about. For more information, call 847-548-2445.

Back to school means back to bed

If your child dozes off in class, it could be due to more than a dull lecture. Longer school days, extracurricular activities and after-school jobs make today's children busier than ever.

"Sleep debt" or sleep deprivation can lead to increased stress, moodiness and poor academic performance, says the Better Sleep Council (www.better-sleep.org).

It is difficult for your child to learn new concepts when he or she is sleepy. In addition, it is dangerous for that same tired student to drive to school, since sleep deprivation can lead to impaired driving abilities. The number of driving accidents caused by fatigue steadily is increasing.

Getting the proper amount of sleep is just as important to a child's health as diet and exercise.

Lake County music speaks up for music education programs

Eat your vegetables, get plenty of exercise and take piano lessons? Great thinkers and teachers from Plato to Einstein have understood the importance of a healthy brain as well as a healthy body and the important role of music in the development of the brain. Now there's scientific evidence that backs up what great minds have known all along, says Lake County Music a local conservatory that intends to make the public more aware of the benefits of music making in the school curriculum.

"Once parents understand how music can help their children grow, they become strong supporters of our school music programs. This is a national trend that we're happy to see here in our district," commented Karen Mezich, Executive Director of Lake County Music.

"Once parents understand how music can help their children grow, they become strong supporters of our school music programs. This is a national trend that we're happy to see here in our district," commented Karen Mezich, Executive Director of Lake County Music.

Psychologist Dr. Frances Rauscher of the University of Wisconsin at Oshkosh and physicist Dr. Gordon Shaw of the University of California at Irvine published the results of a recent study in Neurological Research magazine.

In the study, a group of preschoolers were given piano lessons once a week, while other members of their class received computer training, and a third group got no special instruction. The budding pianists scored 34% higher than the other groups on tests designed to measure spatial-temporal reasoning skills—those required for mathematics, chess, science and engineering.

In a subsequent study conducted by Dr. Shaw, second-graders who took four months of piano instruction supplemented with exer-successful program has been developed to teach these concepts in the school system," stated Dr. Rauscher. "The high proportion of children who evidenced dramatic improvement in spatial-temporal reasoning as a result

Recent research finds links between music study and brain development cises using math puzzle software scored well over 100% higher on proportional math tests than students who used neither.

The implications of these and future studies can change the way educators view the core school curricula, particularly since music-making nurtures the intellect and produces long-term improvements. "It has been clearly documented that young students have difficulty understanding the concepts of proportion (heavily used in math and science) and that no of music training should be of great interest to scientists and educators," added Dr. Shaw.

Lake County Music is planning activities to heighten awareness of the scholastic benefits of music making among parents of school age children and local officials. Parents and others interested in finding out more about music making and brain development can contact Karen Mezich, Executive Director at 847-265-5713 or go to the American Music Conference web site at www.amc-music.org.

International riding competition returns to Tempel Farms

By LAURA JASTRAM
ljastram@lakelandmedia.com

Future Olympic contenders will flock to Tempel Farms in Old Mill Creek to ride in the premiere equestrian competition in North America.

The internationally recognized, 2004 Maul Jim North American Young Riders' Championship, Aug. 13-15, will attract riders ages 16 to 21 from the United States, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and the Caribbean Islands, said Marty Bauman, one of the event organizers.

The competition, which began in the 80s, moves to a different location every year, but frequently returns to Tempel Farms, Bauman said.

He said the commitment of the farm's owners and their belief in what the program does for teen riders, heavily contributes to the frequent return to the farm.

Around 200 horses are expected at this year's competition, Bauman said. Riders have been qualifying for this championship over the first half of the calendar year, he added.

"We find for virtually all of the riders this is their first experience competing internationally," Bauman said. "For some riders this competition is a stepping stone (for the Olympics), but for others this will be their pinnacle."

Riders will compete in dressage, jumping and eventing, Bauman said.

Dressage is an event which is similar to "ballet on horseback" with specified movements, Bauman said. Jumping requires riders to maneuver their horse over different fences and obstacles and eventing is a three-day competition which combines the two previous events and a challenging cross-country course, he said.

This year will mark the fifth Mills Team Challenge for riders with physical disabilities to compete at serious levels, Bauman said.

The official USA Junior Olympic Equestrian event will be run with a close resemblance to the official Olympics. International Olympic judges who will score riders the same as the official Olympics will do judging for the three events, Bauman said. Opening, closing and medal ceremonies will also take place, he said.

Competitors will be split into teams with coaches. The United States and Canada will have several teams split by region, because of the number of riders they send, Bauman said.

"There is added pressure and responsibility of having teammates and coaches," he said.

Preliminary events for the competition will be held Tuesday, Aug. 10 through Thursday, Aug. 12 at Tempel Farms and are open to the public free of charge. Tickets for competition dates are $7 for one-day passes or $18 for a three-day pass. Children under the age of eight and senior citizens are half price and all tickets can be purchased at the event. For more information see www.youngriders.org.

Local duo on course for great seasons

By ROB BACKUS
rbackus@lakelandmedia.com

If nothing else it was a learning experience.

After shooting identical rounds of 85-84 at the U.S. Jr. Girls' Amateur Open in Houston last month, Nicole Schachner and Kate White both felt the same way.

"It was awesome, a great experience," said Schachner, a junior-to-be at Libertyville High School. "I met a bunch of people and a lot of college coaches. Even though I didn't play well, it was great."

Schachner also learned some things about her game.

"I learned how not to compound my mistakes," Schachner said. "Everyone makes mistakes, you just don't want to make them worse."

White, a junior-to-be at Carmel High School, also learned a lot from her experience in Texas.

"I learned a lot about my short game," White said. "It really needs to improve, so I have to spend a lot more time on it. I also saw how disciplined the top players were; I need to become that disciplined to be a better player."

Despite the poor play in Texas, both girls bounced back well for the IJGA Match Play event last week.

White led things after stroke play, shooting a 75, but was eliminated in the opening round of match play.

Schachner shot an opening-round 77 to earn the No. 2 seed. She then won the next three matches 5-and-4, 6-and-5 and 3-and-2 in the finals to take the championship.

"After the tournament (in Texas) I took two days off from golf then got back into my regular routine," Schachner said. "The match play tournament was a lot of fun and I ended up playing well."

Both Schachner and White have played well all summer long, something they hope to continue later this month at the IPGA Tournament of Champions, which will take place Aug. 11 in Bloomington.

But both agree that their play this summer will make them that much better for the fall high school season.

"In the high school season everything is shorter and it will seem simpler," White said. "Hopefully I can make it to state for the first time."

Schachner, on the other hand, is looking for a return trip to state after qualifying as a sophomore.

"I have set the same goal the last two falls, I want to make state and I want my scoring average to go down," said Schachner, who averaged just over 39 per round last season. "I'm shooting for 38 or 37 this year."

Don't throw your love away

I was looking over some of my old newspaper articles from last year and one of them was about a woman living in Lake County who became so unhappy that she set her own house on fire.

And I've never really gotten over that story.

For some reason it still reminds me of the explosive relationship that I had with my ex-wife before she became so unhappy that she left me, and I became a single custodial father.

And here are some of the things that I am still missing about being married.

I miss having someone bringing me a cold glass of lemonade when I'm mowing the lawn on a hot summer day.

And I miss having someone covering me up with a blanket and kissing me on the forehead when I fall asleep on the couch watching the Cubs game on television.

And I miss having someone making me a sandwich and bringing me a cold glass of milk before I go to bed.

And I miss having someone (else) cooking breakfast and dinner.

And I miss having someone (else) washing the dishes and doing the laundry.

And I miss having someone (else) mopping the kitchen and bathroom floors and cleaning the bathtub and cleaning the toilet.

And I miss having someone (else) helping my son with his homework.

And I miss having someone (else) writing out the checks and paying the bills.

And I miss having someone (else) doing the grocery shopping.

Actually I could go on and on but I won't.

I think my point is clear to all you husbands living in Lake County who may be thinking your life is tough and your woman is not perfect.

If, when you get home from work, there is someone there to ask how your day went, and your dinner is cooked, and your laundry is done, and your carpet is vacuumed, and your kitchen and bathroom are clean, and you're not the one who has done the work — you have it a lot better than you think. (Especially if your wife works outside the home, too.)

It may surprise some of you, but your house did not get clean by osmosis.

So treat your spouse well and you won't end up like this old columnist sitting around year after year drinking beer and waxing philosophically about how a woman living in Lake County became so unhappy that she set her own house on fire.

Attic Playhouse presents 'I Hate Hamlet'

"I Hate Hamlet" premiered in New York on April 8, 1991. The playwright—Paul Rudnick—was inspired to write this play after moving into an advertised "medieval duplex" on the top floor of a brownstone in Greenwich Village, New York. It just so happened that the very same apartment was occupied by John Barrymore back in 1917. Barrymore was responsible for renovating the apartment into a Gothic retreat which he named "The Alchemist Corner." In 1922, Barrymore became his generation's most acclaimed Hamlet, in New York and London, renowned for playing Hamlet 101 nights in a row. Barrymore declared the Prince to be "the easiest role he ever played," and his brother Lionel agreed, "You must take into account that when the Bard wrote Hamlet he had Jack in mind." (Gene Fowler, Good Night, Sweet Prince). Barrymore's fame in the movies and theatre was as legendary as his overt love of drink and women. Though alcohol took an early toll on his health and striking good looks, he never lost his bravado or acerbic wit. He even squeezed into a doublet as a 52-year old Mercutio ... forever pursuing his love of Shakespeare.

In the play "I Hate Hamlet," meet Andrew Rally—a dashing, young TV star—whose series has just been canceled. His eccentric agent—Lillian—pushes him to accept the coveted role of Hamlet performing in Central Park, as does his sprightly yet "virtuous" girlfriend—Deirdre. He however hates Hamlet. Andrew's overzealous, real-estate agent Felicia shows him the absurdly gothic apartment she has picked out for him in New York ... which also happened to be previously owned by the renowned John Barrymore. This cinches it for the three women—it's an omen for him to take the role...he's destined to play Hamlet. The trio decide to hold a séance to summon Barrymore's ghost, but it doesn't work...or so they think. Barrymore—donned in his Hamlet garb—makes a grand entrance and "fortified by champagne and ego, presses Andrew to accept the part and fulfill his actor's destiny. The action becomes more hilarious with the entrance of Andrew's deal-making friend from LA, spouting the laid-back hype of the Coast and offering Andrew a fabulous new TV deal worth millions of dollars." The laughs are non-stop as Andrew wrestles with his conscience, Barrymore, and his sword.

Performances run from Aug. 27-Oct. 10, 2004. Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. (except no matinees on Aug. 29 and Sept. 5).

Tickets are $16 with advanced purchase and $18 at door. Special discounts are given to Senior Citizens (65+), Students w/ ID, Military Personnel and groups. For tickets or further information call 847-433-2660.

Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Road, Highland, Illinois.

Sally Edwards: A good humor treat

The chocolate sundaes were already gone when we got there, so the two of us had to settle for the strawberry swirl. "I told you so," my 75-year-old mom repeated. "When seniors come out for something free, showing up this late means slim pickin's."

The "something free" was the launch of the Wauconda Area Library's summer entertainment series. The program that followed was the real good humor treat.

For some reason I didn't feel too bad when mom got her "just desserts" by becoming part of the opening act. Comedian Sally Edwards grabbed her for an impromptu Conga Line to the melody of "If you're happy and you know it clap your hands." I signaled mom that she'd better step it up before her "caboose" derailed, by then she couldn't touch me with anything more than an angry glare.

Married 17 years and the mom of three, Sally

Edwards' comedy revolves around the ample material she finds at home. Her "daily chaos" has landed her on Showtime's "Comedy Club Network," A&E's "Comedy On The Road," and NBC TV's "Friday Night." She's also made appearances at Zanies Comedy Night Club in Vernon Hills.

Sally spices up her routines with audience participation, so my mom wasn't the only senior who ended up doing comedy "improv." As the lady with the most grand-kids, Nancy Klebau of Fish Lake Beach in Volo was unceremoniously crowned "Queen of the Big People." Sally recommended that Nancy write down all the funny stories about her 13 grandchildren in a memory book, then "make them buy it back from you."

Marian Ackerman of Wauconda took the prize (play money) in Sally's stuffed bear diapering derby. After the ladies jogged their memory, the competition was pretty stiff.

And the guys were well represented by Dennis Phillips of Island Lake, who certainly deserved a toy "jungle survival kit" as his award for hoofing it to the disco tune, "Staying Alive."

But the icing on the cake was genteel Eileen Mueller of Glenview, who earned a Broadway bravo for her "lip sync" accompaniment to "New York, New York." When Edwards presented her with cheerleading pom poms, Eileen brought the house down with her own version of a "fan dance"—discreetly peeling off her jacket and shoes.

By the way, my mother expects me to tell readers to check out Sally Edwards' web site, www.ComedyBySally.com, for her upcoming appearances. AND, mom says contact the Wauconda Area Library at 847-526-6225 or library@wauclib.org for more information about their summer entertainment series.

The Woodstock Mozart Festival is open now and continues through Sunday, Aug. 15 at the Woodstock Opera House, Woodstock, Illinois.

Each weekend features 8 p.m. Saturday evening and 3 p.m. Sunday afternoon orchestral concerts preceded by artist and conductor introductions which begin one hour before each performance. A 2 p.m. chamber music matinee on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 14, replaces the pre-concert discussions during the third and final weekend of the festival.

On Aug. 7-8, conductor Gregory Vajda will first lead the festival orchestra in two concertos, K. 603 and then, K. 534 Das Donnerwetter. He will then be joined by pianist Roberto Presseda in Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 27, K. 595, Mozart's Symphony No. 41, K. 551, The Jupiter will be the program's final selection.

Born in Budapest, Gregory Vajda is currently assistant conductor with the Milwaukee Symphony.

Mr. Vajda's guest engagements have been with the Oregon Symphony, Calgary Philharmonic, St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, the Ensemble Intercontemporain Paris, Opera de Montreal, the National Arts Centre Orchestra in Ottawa, Canada, as well as with the Milwaukee Chamber Orchestra. As a composer, he was honored with the Zoltan Kodaly state scholarship for composers and recently conducted his own composition for the silent film The Crowd at the auditorium of the Louvre in Paris.

Born in Latina, Italy, Roberto Presseda has won several important piano competitions including the Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart competition in Salzburg. He has performed in more than 30 countries in Europe, Asia, North and South America.

As a musicologist, Mr. Presseda recently won the first prize at the T.I.M. International Competition 2002 for musical criticism. He is also the artistic consultant of the Campus Internazionale di Musica, a concert organization in Italy.

Three concerts are scheduled during the weekend of Aug. 14-15: a chamber music matinee performance on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.; and orchestral performances on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. and on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. The festival's artistic advisor and violin soloist Mark Peskanov will play and conduct the orchestral concerts with programming featuring violinist Erin Higuchi and violinist Michele Lekas. Selections for Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon will include Vivaldi's Echo Concerto for Four Violins, RV 552; Haydn's Violin Concerto in C Major, Hob. VIIa 1 with Mr. Peskanov as soloist; Mozart's Sinfonia Concertante, K. 364(320d), in E-flat with Mr. Peskanov and Miss Higuchi; and Sarasate's Navarra with Mr. Peskanov and Mrs. Lekas.

During the Saturday afternoon 2 p.m. chamber music concert, Mr. Peskanov will be joined in Mozart's Piano and Violin Sonata in G Major, K. 301 by the Festival's general director Anita Whalen as pianist; and in Mozart's String Quartet in C Major, K. 465, dissonance by festival orchestra musicians.

Mark Peskanov, the festival's artistic advisor and principal guest artist, is a native of Odessa in the Ukraine. His career has taken him to all the major concert halls and orchestras in the U.S. and around the world. Mr. Peskanov received the first Frederick R. Mann Award following his performance with the Philadelphia Orchestra; also the Avery Fisher Career Grant and Carnegie Hall's first Isaac Stern Award. In 1980 he premiered the violin concerto of John Williams with Leonard Slatkin and the St. Louis Symphony and later recorded the work with Mr. Slatkin and the London Symphony.

Erin Higuchi, in her second season as principal violinist with the Woodstock Mozart Festival, is also a member of the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra and principal violinist of the Milwaukee Chamber Orchestra.

Michele Lekas holds the same post with the Northwest Indiana Symphony, Rockford Symphony Orchestra, and the New Philharmonic Orchestra, all of which have featured her as a soloist. She performs with the North Park Chamber Players and the Pilgrim Chamber Players, and substitutes for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Mozart Festival series subscriptions for all evening concerts are available through the Woodstock Opera House box office at $96 or $120. Single tickets are $42, $34, and $20. Tickets for the 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 14 chamber music concert are $20 ($18 for Mozart Festival subscribers). Discounts are available for group reservations on Sunday afternoons and for the Saturday, Aug. 14 afternoon chamber music concert.

Orders for all tickets may be made with Visa and Mastercard by calling 815-338-5300 or by writing to the Woodstock Opera House, 121 Van Buren Street, Woodstock, IL 60098.

All Friday and Saturday evening concerts begin at 8 p.m. The pre-concert musical introductions during the first and second weekends of the festival begin at 7 p.m. Because of the 2 p.m. chamber music performance on Aug. 14, there will be no pre-concert events during the final weekend of the festival.

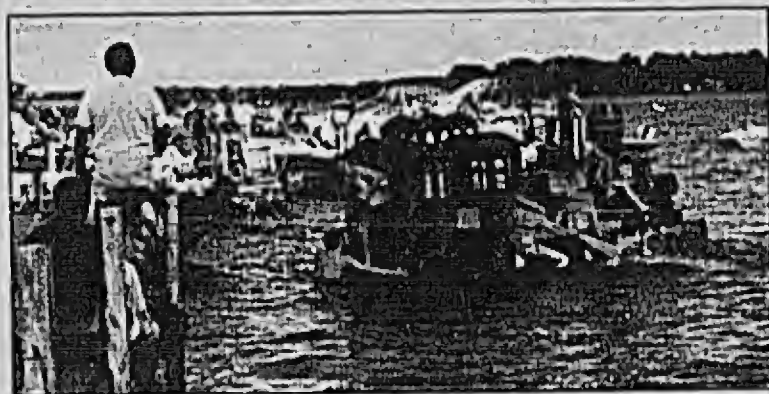

The Woodstock Mozart Festival is partially funded by the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency, and through private and corporate contributions. The 2004 season concert sponsors are the Aptar Group Charitable Foundation, the Clarence W. and Marilyn G. Schawik Charitable Foundation, Home State Bank, Geraldine Grennan, Mr. and Mrs. Jon T. Ender, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin J. LeCoque, Mr. and Mrs. Farlin Cauffield and the city of Woodstock. Raffle prizes have been donated by the Woodstock Mozart Festival and the SAS Palais Hotel for a Viennese holiday via Austrian Airlines and by the Geneva Inn of Lake Geneva, Wis. for a weekend get-away for two.

NEW RELEASES

These films are currently playing at local theaters. An average of six new reviews a week as well as recent releases can be found under Current Movie Reviews at www.reelmoviecritic.com.

opening this week

Collateral: Tom Cruise goes against the grain of his usual role to become a bad guy like Denzel and Tom Hanks. He's a contract killer on a mission to execute key witnesses so that an expected indictment will not become a reality. Jamie Foxx is a LA cab driver who thinks he's seen it all over the past 12 years behind the wheel, until he becomes potential collateral damage when circumstances cause Cruise to hijack the taxicab and force Foxx to drive him to each assassination destination. As the LAPD and FBI race to intercept them, Cruise and Foxx become dependent on each other for survival, in ways neither would have imagined. Also stars Jada Pinkett Smith, Mark Ruffalo. Directed by Michael Mann. (R)

Open Water: Lions Gate films snapped up this small movie at the Sundance Film Festival because they think it has the potential to be a low budget, big box office hit like "The Blair Witch Project" or "My Big Fat Greek Wedding." (R)

It was made for only $130,000 with a $3,000 digital camera. It has a cast and crew of five, featuring two unknown actors and a school of gray reef sharks. It tells a story of two scuba divers that are left behind in shark infested waters when a resort boat made a head count error.

The reception by the audience at Sundance was outstanding and the art house crowd will love it. Whether it will cross over into the mainstream remains to be seen. Lions Gate thinks it will, as they have invested $15 million into its marketing!

Zach Braff (of the TV series "Scrubs") wrote, directed and starred in this richly textured film that depicts a young man, out of touch with reality, coming to know who he really is. It was a hit at the Sundance Film Festival early this year and it's easy to see why because it goes against the grain of Hollywood's typical unrealistic way of depicting real life situations. Usually, on-screen real life is juiced up to give a film dramatic impact yet the outcome often lacks the pulp, which gives life its flavor. Normally, the story has three parts: a set up that shows how a situation has developed; progress toward resolution of the problem, which soon runs into stumbling blocks; and a climax that resolves the problem and ties everything together. If you know someone with a life like that, please let us know so we talk with him or her to find out how we should run our lives.

Andrew Largeman (Braff) comes home to New Jersey from his job (usually as a waiter) in Hollywood to honor his mother at her funeral. He's a struggling actor, estranged from his father (Ian Holm) because of an accident years earlier that resulted in his mother being disabled. Andrew has been in a haze for as long as he can remember because of anti depressant drugs prescribed by his psychiatrist father. When Andrew takes a holiday from his daily pill popping routine, a new world opens to him.

At the cemetery, Andrew is reunited with his best buddy from high school, Mark (Peter Sarsgaard), who happens to be fairly content with his dead end job of digging graves, and still living at home with his over-the-top, free spirited mother (Jean Smart). Another old friend is an odd duck who has become wealthy because he invented a Velcro that makes no noise. He lives in an unfurnished mansion and gives great, wild parties. In spite of having the financial means to leave town for life in the big city, this millionaire has decided that running in place gets him where he's interested in going.

Just about the time you are wondering where this quirky, ho hum movie is going, and you are asking if Natalie Portman (who gave a wonderful and too brief performance in "Cold Mountain") is really in the film, she makes her appearance with the impact of two hot wires that are connected and turn on the lights. The film brightens and so does Andrew's outlook. The romance that develops between them is absent of false drama and it's not idealistic love at first sight. Their relationship evolves just like in real life. She has her own issues but is a few steps ahead of Andrew in knowing where she is, where she wants to go and how to get there.

Zach Braff, best known as the lead on the NBC comedy series, "Scrubs," makes an impressive writer-director-star debut. Natalie Portman delivers her best performance yet. For young adults who want a film aimed squarely at them, which skips the use of action oriented, computer generated image spectacles, lacks gastronomical jokes and other raunchy fare, will be pleased to be treated as respectful young adults.

Trees

Ten free Colorado Blue Spruce trees

Ten free Colorado blue spruce trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during August 2004.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"Colorado blue spruces were selected for this campaign because of their many uses in the home landscape," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "They lend beauty to their surroundings with their silver blue-green color and compact conical shape. They can be used as individual ornamentals, an energy-saving windbreak, a privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between Oct. 15 and Dec. 10 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the Foundation's colorful bimonthly publication, Arbor Day, and The Tree Book with information about tree planting and care.

To receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TEN BLUE SPRUCES, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Aug. 31, 2004, or join by going online at arbor.org.

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

Don't get carried away early in the week. There's too much going on to lose your head. An outburst only will make things even more hectic. An old friend has a proposition for you. Look at everything that is involved before making a decision. Something just isn't right with the whole deal.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Don't let your desire for more let you give up all that you already have, Cancer. Open your eyes to what's in front of you. You've been taking those closest to you for granted. Show them how much you really care. A business associate asks for help later in the week. Do what you can, but don't fall behind in your own tasks.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

You're flying high this week. Your efforts are being rewarded in the workplace, and your personal life is going well. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes — you know that is what you want too.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't be shy when it comes to meeting an important person this week. Impress him or her with your knowledge and abilities. He or she is sure to take an interest in you. Opportunity is knocking. A loved one needs romantic advice. Don't venture into unknown territory. Tell him or her that you just don't know what to say.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Your persistence pays off when it comes to romance this week, Taurus. That special someone finally says yes. He or she just needed to see how serious your feelings were. Don't be cavalier now. Wine and dine him or her, and show your true feelings. A loved one needs your help with a family matter. Be supportive.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Don't get overcome by the call of the wild, Leo. There's a lot of work to be done this week. You have demands on you in both your professional life and your personal life. Set your priorities early in the week, and you'll get things accomplished by Friday, leaving you plenty of time to enjoy the weekend.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

You have a lot of decisions to make, Scorpio. Examine all of your options carefully. Don't be too hasty. Remember, the repercussions won't just affect you; those closest to you are involved also. A business associate wants to get to know you better. Don't get in over your head.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Telling a lie gets you into a lot of trouble late in the week. You spend several days trying to get things back on track. Remember, honesty is the best policy. A close friend has a surprise for you. Enjoy the suspense, and let yourself go. You haven't been able to relax in a long time.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Your professional life keeps you on your toes during the middle of the week. A lot of demands are put upon you. Stay focused and organized — that is your key to success. A close friend wants your input on an important decision he or she has to make. Be honest. The truth is what's needed.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Your orderly nature serves you well early in the week, Virgo. By keeping things organized, you make a lot of progress. Don't forget to delegate some of your less important tasks. You have every right to do so. A friend introduces you to an interesting person. Be yourself, and you're sure to make a good impression.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Your bravery wins you accolades early in the week. You stand up to an adversary at work and make a bad situation better for everyone. The higher-ups are impressed with your efforts. That special someone wants to call it quits. Don't give up without a fight. He or she means too much to you.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

The stress of the past few days finally is gone, Pisces. You can relax and enjoy yourself. Take some time to pamper yourself — you deserve it. An acquaintance has an interesting question for you. Be honest. Leo plays a key role on Friday.

MARKETERMONTHLY

About the cover: The popularity of the great room concept a decade ago has given way to new concepts of creating openness and a feeling of abundant space in new home construction in the Lakeland area. One way is "linking" different uses with positioning of furniture and design of kitchen cabinetry that contributes to free-flowing activity and the feeling of relating various uses without using walls or partial partitions. With double-sided glass doors a hanging cabinet serves dual function as a divider and storage while linking the kitchen with other parts of the home.

Home Marketer is published the first Friday of each month by Lakeland Media at 30 S. Whitney, Grayslake, Illinois 60030. For advertising information, call, (847) 223-8161 or fax your information and press releases to (847) 223-0810. Business hours are 8:00 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

All real estate advertising in this magazine is subject to the Fair Housing Act of 1968 as amended which makes it illegal to advertise religion, sex, handicap, family status or national origin, or an intention to make any such preference, limitation or discrimination.

The inside scoop on homeowner's insurance

If home is where the heart is, then you undoubtedly want that heart to be protected by insurance.

That's where homeowner's insurance comes in. It provides financial protection against disasters, insuring the home and what's in it. A basic home policy will cover the repair or rebuilding of your home if it's damaged by fire, smoke, frozen pipes, ice and snow. (Damages caused by flood or earthquakes require separate policies.) To determine the cost of rebuilding your home, factor in the style of the house, number of rooms, square footage, type of roof and type of exterior wall construction.

In the event of a theft, fire, hurricane or other disaster, possessions like furniture, clothing and other personal items will also be covered. Expensive items like jewelry are covered, but only up to $1,000 to $2,000. (A special policy, called a floater, can cover their full value.) To figure out how much coverage you need, make a detailed list of everything you own and its cost. Your belongings can be insured for their cash value or their replacement cost. A cash value policy pays the cost to replace your belongings, minus depreciation. A replacement cost policy reimburses you for the cost to replace the item (which is usually about 10 percent more than the actual cash value).

Homeowner's policies also cover lawsuits for bodily injury you or family members cause to other people or damage caused by pets. If you are brought to court, the policy covers your legal and court fees. Most policies provide a minimum of $100,000 worth of liability insurance.

Policies also pay for living expenses if you are living away from home temporarily while your home is being rebuilt after a fire, storm or other insured disaster. Coverage varies from company to company.

Mortgage lenders require that you purchase a minimum amount of homeowners insurance, but ask your insurance agent if your policy has enough coverage. You can get insurance through your local insurance agent or insurance companies, or via the phone, mail or online. Consult your state insurance department, the yellow pages, family or friends for recommendations or further information.

FUTURE PLANS

HEITZMAN

The Heitzman (407-36) has a deceptive contemporary exterior that hides a glamorous interior. Outside, the home has many windows, a narrow covered porch, and a two-car garage. Inside, there are many amenities that make this home different from other homes of its style. Entry into the Heitzman brings a visitor into a large foyer facing the great room. To the left of the entry is the master suite. It is a large open room with a full master bath to the left.

the large deck in the rear running parallel to the great room. The great room has two large sets of windows on each side of a patio door. In the corner is a fireplace surrounded by bookshelves. The room is open and has the kitchen in front corner. A walk-in pantry separates the kitchen from the entry. The C-shaped kitchen has a work island in the center and a considerable amount of counter space along the wall. Two Lazy Susans have been added in the corners for ease of reaching dishes and spices. An eating bar runs along the counter facing the dining room.

To the right of the entry is an office that is large enough to double as another bedroom if needed. In the rear corner is a guest suite with a long wall closet, large windows, and a full bath just outside the door. A linen closet is also in the hall adjacent to the guest room door.

At the end of the hall next to the garage is a large utility room with a washer/dryer, sink, range/over (for canning or use by someone in the guest suite) with a garden window over, a lazy Susan in the corner, and a built-in ironing board.

The garage has an attic overhead as a bonus area with pull down stairs. A forced air unit and a water heater are inside while the heat pump is outside on a concrete slab.

Access to the bath is through two pocket doors. This area contains the sinks with the walk-in closet to the left and a shower to the right. A door opens into a very large pool room that is designed to contain a lap pool. Another shower is in the corner for swimmers to use. Two built-in benches surround a water heater in the opposite corner. Patio doors on the right side of the pool open onto

Did you know...

Container gardening is a popular method of landscaping the home. By planting flowers, shrubbery and other greenery in containers of varying sizes, you can easily arrange your plants to achieve the right balance and look for your lifestyle. Container gardening is also practical for those who are apartment dwellers or don't have adequate space to devote to a traditional garden. Well-placed pots of foliage can enhance a drab front porch or brighten a windowsill. Look for hardy plants like begonias or marigolds, and be sure your containers have holes at the bottom for drainage.

Don't lose possessions to repossession action

Do you know what could happen if you buy a car or a boat or other large item and miss even a single payment? You may wake up one morning and find your property is no longer in your driveway. That's right. It has been repossessed by the seller.

If a buyer fails to make timely payments on an installment agreement, the creditor has the right to take possession of the property. However, in so doing, the creditor cannot cause a breach of the peace by a physical confrontation with the buyer or cause property damage. Additionally, a creditor cannot keep personal items found inside your boat or car. Personal property does not include improvements, such as a CD player or a luggage rack.

If your property is reposed, you can reclaim it by paying the entire balance due, plus repossession charges, plus attorney and court fees. In the meantime, the creditor has the right to resell the property and if he receives less than the original value of the property, you can be held liable for the difference in the original price and the selling price.

For example, let's say one stills owes $3000 on a car. The creditor repossesses your vehicle and sells it for $1500. You are still responsible for the remaining $1500 and any charges related to repossession. This is called a deficiency; an amount still owned by the debtor after the creditor sells the property and applies that amount to your unpaid balance. In the end, you could lose not only the vehicle, but all of the payments you made on the vehicle.

Before reselling your property, the creditor must first take reasonable steps to notify you, the debtor, of the sale and make sure the sale is conducted in a reasonable manner to obtain a reasonable price for the item. If the creditor does not take these steps, then the debtor is not liable for the deficiency between the original price and the resale price. The debtor can also participate in the bidding process and possibly reclaim the property.

If you're unable to make a payment or a special circumstance forces you to make a late payment, talk to your creditor to explain the situation. Creditors don't want the property back and many times are willing to work with you and revise your payment schedule. If you negotiate a payment schedule, be sure to get the terms in writing because oral agreements are hard to prove in court. Until you make that last payment, the property actually "belongs" to the creditor and can be repossessed any time you default in your payments.

Take care you don't over-extend your self, make timely payments, and you'll have one less worry when you wake up in the morning.

Summer fun - poolside

You don't need to hire a designer, landscape architect or contractor to add a beautiful room with a view to your outdoor lifestyle. Use your own imagination to turn your pool cabana into something memorable and attractive that reflects your tastes and personality.

- Design your pool cabana to suit your lifestyle - mix a drink, take a shower, change your clothes or store your pool stuff; it's all possible with endless design options.

- To dress up your pool cabana, consider adding a dormer, window boxes or architectural windows.

- Self-expression doesn't need to be expensive. Outdoor lights, arbors, wind chimes and stone walkways can go a long way to creating the outdoor sanctuary of your dreams.

- Roofs add character. Cedar shingles, for example, are truly beautiful and will last a lifetime.

- Instead of buying a standard plywood floor for your structure, consider tongue and groove pine floorboards to make it a more attractive feature.

To customize your pool cabana, garden shed, gazebo, weekend cabin, playhouse or garage, go to www.summerwood.com or call 1-800-663-5042 for more information on easy to assemble kits, delivered right to your home.

Add your creative touches when customizing your pool cabana. The result will prove to be fun, functional and very rewarding.

Home-improvement shows dominate TV

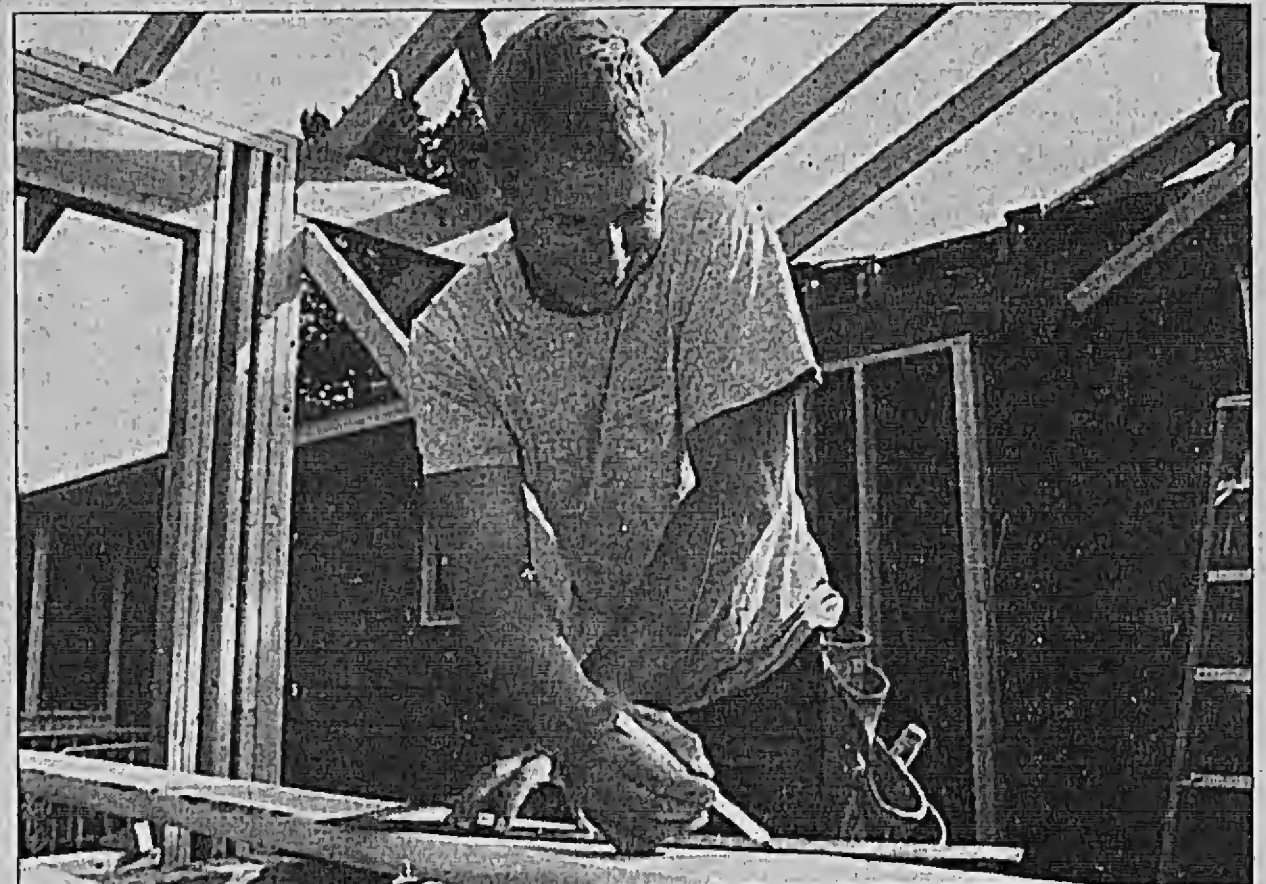

Turn on the television these days and you'll undoubtedly find a home-improvement show. From cable channels to broadcast networks, fixing up the home and having fun in the process are the stations' main lineup of programming. Perhaps we had an inkling of what was to come when PBS's "This Old House" became a mainstay for do-it-yourselfers back in 1979. Viewers were guided through a week-by-week transformation of homes with narration by Bob Vila and carpentry expertise by Norm Abrams. However, with the launch of shows like The Learning Channel's "Trading Spaces" and Discovery's "Surprise By Design," reality home-improvement television has catapulted into a new orbit — and a very popular one at that. So popular that the stars of these shows, like Vern Yip and Carter Oosterhouse, are almost as recognizable as Hollywood stars, garnering Web sites and groupies.

The appeal of the shows is obvious — regular folks are often knee-deep in the work, allowing viewers the ability to relate to the show. Some want to surprise loved ones with home improvements, as with "Surprise By Design" and "While You Were Out," or experience the element of surprise themselves by offering the keys to their homes to neighbors and friends for a room makeover, as with "Trading Spaces." Home and Garden Television (HGTV) boasts "Curb Appeal" and "Design on a Dime," which bring in designers and architects to transform home interiors and exteriors.

Networks are seeing large rating boosts as a result of these programs. In fact, HGTV has already created a do-it-yourself channel specifically for these types of shows. It seems that just as reality TV has changed the face of television with dating shows like "The Bachelor," stunt programs like "Fear Factor" and talent searches like "American Idol," it has also transformed home-improvement programming. Generally, the public is shown that they are capable of revamping the look of their homes. It's education nestled in an entertaining package.

"The whole home-improvement genre has evolved into a kind of a combination between shows that are looking for laughs — and they are very successful — and reality TV," says Bob Vila. "I don't think they should be considered how-to programming," says Vila, "I think they have more to do with inspirational programming, but from what I can tell, it's mostly entertainment."

These entertaining programs are also filling the spaces on network channels. Ty Pennington of "Trading Spaces" fame is receiving equal success with his inspirational "Extreme Home Makeover" on WABC. The show demolishes the home of a lucky viewer and transforms it into a stunning centerpiece — in one week. But will the ratings continue to soar? Some argue that the home-improvement boom may be related to the low interest rates the country has seen over the past few years. Refinancing has freed up extra dollars for homeowners to use for cosmetic changes and home repairs. And those who've just purchased a new home can give it a special touch. All they need to do is watch a few home-improvement shows to get the inspiration they need.

Yet don't forget the magic of television. While they may get it all done perfectly in the course of two days on the show, in reality, careful editing contributes to the illusion. Your improvements may take longer, and you may experience roadblocks, especially if you're a beginner. So turn on the television for some inspiration and, remember, your most important tool is your remote control!

Lighting tricks every homeowner should know

For today's busy homeowners, a 24-hour day never seems long enough to balance increasingly large to-do lists with active family itineraries. While readers continue to scoop up personal computers, industrial washing machines and the latest in new technology, they often overlook the important role that one of the first home technologies, lighting, plays on completing tasks safely and conveniently.

With the arrival of cooler weather, we will begin spending increased time indoors, making it the perfect opportunity to tend to interior home improvements.

The dining room

Holidays and social gatherings often occur around the dining room table. By paying attention to the lighting inside our homes, we can easily create a relaxed atmosphere that sets the mood for any dinner party. Many homeowners use chandeliers to add elegance and sparkle to the formal dining room. What most do not know, however, is that aiming downlights straight onto the table will reduce glare in diners' eyes. For best results, place one downlight about 24 inches on either side of the chandelier above the table for even lighting.

The kitchen

The warmth of the kitchen is a favorite place for the family to mingle. Ensure that the room is properly lit for the tasks that occur in this space, such as slicing, chopping and measuring. Work areas such as a counter, island or sink should have their own lighting to make tasks safer and easier. For versatile and unobtrusive lighting, try under-the-cabinet fluorescent lamps. Using these lights together with overhead fixtures helps create shadow-free work areas.

The bathroom

Many homeowners overlook the importance of lighting in the bathroom. A little-known fact is that light naturally creates shadows; thus when you combine light with mirrors, extra caution must be taken. The proper lighting for completing bathroom tasks such as applying makeup and shaving one's face is achieved by placing bulbs vertically on both sides of the mirror for an even, balanced spread of light.

The dark shower represents another area that needs proper illumination for both safety and comfort. By installing an overhead light within the bathing area, you can achieve a brighter, safer space.

'Full-nester' family industry mainstay

While everybody seems to be talking about the first-time buyers and empty-nesters, don't forget the mainstay of the housing industry, the traditional nuclear family — two parents, two kids, on average — which could just as easily be called "full-nesters."

The full-fledged family with school-age children has always been the biggest group of homebuyers, consistently accounting for approximately two-thirds of the home-buying market, according to figures from the National Association of Realtors.

"Finding a home can be a daunting task for the traditional family, since they have so many priorities to juggle," said Bill Gronow, an operating partner of South Barrington, Illinois-based Kennedy Homes. "For example, they must maintain a three-sided balance between their chief concerns: their families, their own wants and needs, and their financial situation, and any new home must fit all three criteria."

"Right in the middle of the price range is the full-nester," said Gronow. "They need more space than a first-time buyer — lots of space for the kids, and while a good neighborhood is a plus, they aren't looking for pretentious surroundings. They want a functional, good-sized home that also has some creature comforts and creative touches. But the needs come first." Specifically:

Their families, the foremost ingredient. Concerns in this area have the size of the home at the top of the list, as the homebuyer must have enough room to raise the family. This is closely followed by the number of bedrooms, the size of the family room, and whether or not the home has an additional "family-oriented" living space and abundant storage. Each of these can be crucial when the family is growing.

"This is why there are four bedrooms in almost every home we offer, and a fifth is often an option," said Gronow. "Family rooms, in most cases, are the biggest room in our homes as well, and all of our homes include additional large second-floor bonus areas to fulfill that need for extra family space." Other concerns in this area include the quantity, quality and location of schools in the area, and the overall friendliness of the neighborhood.

Kitchens are also important in this regard. Popular Lakeland features include dishwashers, gas or electric ranges, and refuse disposers. Many have plans that offer planning desks and center work islands as custom choices.

Themselves. Regardless of how important the family is, virtually no buyer will sacrifice absolutely everything — "which is another reason for a big family room," Gronow added. Amenities are important to a homebuyer at this stage, and comfort and convenience are two indications of where to start.

"One item that fits well here is a generously-sized master bedroom that offers parents a safe haven," he said, "and in most of our plans they rival the family room in terms of size."

Master baths, meanwhile, boast luxurious over-sized soaking tubs with the choice of separate showers, and all baths have cultured marble vanity tops with the available choice of double bowls; each home's powder room features a pedestal sink and oval mirror. Both kitchens and baths include vinyl flooring and wood cabinets.

Light up your home with the beauty and glow of candles

Candles shine their light on holidays, birthdays, dinners and other celebrations. But candles aren't reserved just for those occasions anymore. Today, candles are a decorative element, bringing color, aroma, warmth and style to just about any room of the home.

Found in many places, such as beauty-supply shops and greeting-card stores, candles are easily accessible and affordable, too. Pick one without a fragrance, or choose one of the thousands of scents available, like the traditional vanilla or citrus, to the more unusual like toasted marshmallow or candy corn. According to the National Candle Association, there are many different types of candles, such as:

- formal dinner candles, which are 6 to 18 inches tall, tapered, straight sided or spiral
- votive candles, which are small candles often grouped together
- container candles, which are decorative, scented candles housed in glass, tin or pottery
- mini or square pillars
- textured candles
- multi-wick candles

- floating candles
- scented candles in glass containers
- wall sconces with candles
- natural-colored candles
- ball or square candles

Once you buy your candles, don't put them in the closet — decorate with them! Not sure how or where to start? Here are some ideas that can help get you started:

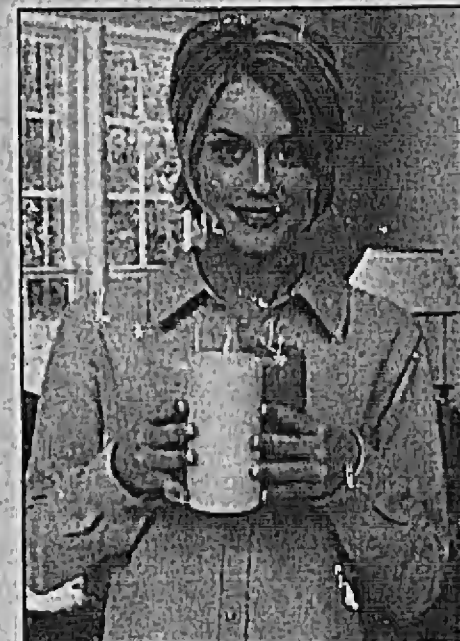

Mix and match. Combine candles into an attractive display of different shapes or widths, keeping their color uniform or in varying shades of one color. Also, use various candle holders to create an even more appealing look.

Try tapers. Tapers may be basic candles that are tall and thin. But you can make them stand out with a unique display. Place a tall taper in the middle of the table or mantel and then organize tapers by height in descending order from tall to short on both sides, spacing them 3 inches apart. On your mantel, you can gather different-sized tapers, changing the colors and fragrances depending on the season, the look you desire or your mood.

Light up the fireplace — in the summer. Filling a fireplace with candles is a way to take advantage of your fireplace's beauty, even when it's too warm to light it. Vary the height with bricks or stone blocks to achieve the look of a burning flame.

Stick with the basics. Give a room a romantic aura with a crystal bowl or wine glass filled with water and a floating candle or two. If you have a pottery bowl, turn it into a centerpiece. Place column-style candles in the bowl, and surround the base with smooth stones. Or use a porcelain bowl and surround a candle with faux pearls.

Let the meal be the aroma. At dinner, candles should help create the ambience and the food should provide the aroma. Choose unscented candles that match your china and place them in engaging candle holders.

Candles are no longer just for holidays or birthdays. They can be used anytime you'd like filled with beauty, fragrance and light.

Everything about estimates

Moving day

If people spend months looking for a new home and weeks packing, why do people spend so little time finding a mover? Choosing a mover is not something to be taken lightly. If you do it properly, you'll avoid hassles and additional expenses on moving day.

The first thing you need to do is pick a time frame for your move. (The American Moving and Storage Association recommends that you begin making all your moving arrangements four to six weeks before the moving date.) Remember, most people want to move during the months of May to September, when the kids are out of school and business tends to be slower. So, if you want to move during that time of year, be sure to book in advance. If possible, move at another time of the year — you may even be able to snag a lower rate for moving off-season.

Also keep in mind that many people want to move at the beginning or the end of the month, when leases are up and mortgages are due. If you can, move in the middle of the month to help you snag both your desired mover and moving date.

Then, it's time to find someone who can do that moving for you, when you want to do it. Moving companies provide a variety of services for a range of fees. Talk with different movers to compare their services. Ask friends and neighbors or consult the Better Business Bureau for their recommendations and referrals. Then, call two or three movers and ask them to come to your home to do an estimate and put it in writing. The types of estimates are:

- non-binding estimate: an approximate cost provided by the mover to give you a general cost of the move; doesn't bind the mover to the estimated cost; final charges are based on the actual weight and tariff; additional services are dealt with at delivery time and may require that the estimate be voided or revised

- binding estimate: agreement made in advance with the mover that guarantees the total cost of the move based on the quantities and services shown on the estimate; additional services at delivery time may require that the estimate be voided or revised

- not-to-exceed estimate: called different names by various movers; an estimate based on a binding estimate or on actual cost — whichever is lower

To get the best estimate, show the movers everything you want to move. Don't forget to go into the attic, basement, garage, shed, closets and underneath beds. Discuss how much they'll pack for you (and related charges) and the cost of any other services they can provide you. Anything that's not included in the estimate will be tacked on later, so be as accurate as possible to get the most precise estimate. Now, you have a few estimates and don't know which one to choose. Estimates will differ from company to company to stay competitive, but they should be within an acceptable range. If the estimate seems too good to be true, it probably is. When a mover gives an offer that's significantly below the others, examine it carefully before accepting it. However, when dealing with personal possessions, it's best to disregard cost and go with the most reputable company. When you are getting an estimate, also ask about payment arrangements. Many moving companies require payments in cash, certified check or money order. Most don't accept credit cards or personal checks. Know this answer in advance so you aren't stuck running to the bank on the day of your move. Follow these tips and you won't have any surprises on moving day!

Be sure to get an accurate moving estimate so you won't have any surprise expenses on moving day.
